Beauty Wins Yule Amnesty For Speeders

COX ARMOR IS DENTED BY MAID

Southern Girl's Offer to Serve Friend's Term Is Revealed By Jurist

CHRISTMAS LENIENCY IS SHOWN AUTOISTS

Her Companion Going Too Fast On Her Account, Visitor Declares

Quotations regarding the "qualities of mercy" as set forth by Portia, Eugene V. Debs and others, were in order here today at the county jail when the news of a general amnesty granted to all speeders by Justice J. B. Cox was received.

Ten speeders who were given sentences of five days each Wednesday were released today and sent home to hang up their stockings—all because of Christmas and a distinguished Southern beauty, scion of an aristocratic Alabama family, whose plea for mercy bore results.

This combination, it was admitted, made the first dent in the flinty armor of the local jurist.

The young woman, it was further admitted, started matters by interceding in behalf of one prisoner, Infectious Christmas spirit caused the court's heart to expand sufficiently to include the entire lot of speeders, whose sentences were thus cut short.

Julia Virginia Lee, grand-daughter of a former Alabama governor and niece of Judge John Purifoy, present secretary of state in Alabama, was given credit for the amnesty order.

The girl with the good old Dixie name made a dignified, but very earnest appeal—so earnest that she begged to be allowed to serve in jail in place of one prisoner—and got results where the flashing smile of Bebe Daniels failed. The judge for once relented.

Aids Hollywood Mah. A letter from the Alabama girl requested that the sentence of H. Sylvester, 323 Cole avenue, Hollywood, be shortened or that she be allowed to serve in his place. The appeal was made she said because she was responsible for Sylvester's arrest on the speeding charge.

He was ordinarily a very careful driver, she said, but he was on this occasion taking her into Los Angeles in some haste after she had missed an appointment there with a young girl friend from the East, who would be alone in a strange city.

"I come from a family of judges like yourself and no one respects the law more than I," wrote the girl, "but I feel that it would be more unfortunate and unjust for him to suffer this because of his service to me." Following which was a timely appeal for Christmas generosity to "an Eastern visitor."

Sylvester had previously been granted a week's delay in reporting to start his sentence and, had he taken advantage of it, he would have been freed before he entered jail. But he reported last night, so he had a brief taste of what happens to the speeders in Orange county.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Philip Smith, 17, 24 Gough avenue, may lose his legs as the result of an elevator accident on the fourth floor of an office building at 883 Mission street. The youth was caught between the door frame and the cage and suffered a compound fracture of the legs. The police were able to obtain but a meager account of the accident. The boy was in the employ of the Mohr Optical company with offices in the building.

SAILOR IN DEATH PLUNGE CAUSE OF DOUBLE ACCIDENT

LONG BEACH, Dec. 21.—A sailor is dead and sixteen persons are injured, one perhaps fatally, as the result of a double accident here late last night in which a roller coaster car on the "Pike" was wrecked and an ambulance, hurrying the injured to the hospital, struck an automobile.

T. A. Bellotti, sailor on the U. S. S. California, was killed when he attempted to leap from one fast moving coaster car to another, running parallel on the adjoining track. He fell 60 feet to the ground, with practically every bone in his body broken.

The leap derailed the second car, which crashed into a post, injuring fourteen occupants. The car miraculously remained on the trestle work and did not plunge through to the beach below.

Mrs. Catherine McDonald, 48, was perhaps fatally injured when an ambulance, speeding to the hospital with persons injured in the coaster wreck, struck the McDonald machine. Both vehicles overturned. J. O. McDonald, the woman's husband, suffered a skull fracture, but will perhaps recover.

N. C. Armstrong and R. M. Giles, seaman third class, U. S. S. Maryland, were badly cut and bruised in the coaster wreck, and it is feared suffered additional injuries when the ambulance crashed. E. J. Wood, driver of the ambulance, was cut and bruised, but was able to leave the hospital after treatment.

GIANT LINER ASHORE IN N. Y. BAY

Leviathan, Returning to U. S. With Christmas Vagabonds, on Mud Bank

(By United Press Leased Wire) ABOARD STEAMSHIP LEVIATHAN, AGROUND IN NEW YORK BAY, Dec. 21.—(By wireless to the United Press from a Staff Correspondent) The Leviathan, world's largest liner, grounded on a mud bank near Robbins Reef in New York bay today when a strong ebb tide from Kill Von Kull caught the ship on the port-side, swinging her toward the reef.

Passengers, who had been making preparations for disembarkation, regarded the affair as a lark. A tea dance was started on B deck. Meanwhile customs officials commenced examining baggage aboard, so that some of the more fortunate could be taken ashore in tugs.

Cancel Reservations. There was a rush for the wireless room as hundreds of those aboard had train reservations which they desired to cancel.

Others wanted to send messages to friends and relatives to inform them that their Christmas arrival home would be delayed. The ship's staff began serving luncheon and making preparations to serve dinner.

The shores of the bay were plainly visible from the Leviathan's decks as they were the clustering skyscrapers of Manhattan, "so near and yet so far."

Eighteen tugs were standing by, lifting valvies in their efforts to pull the big liner off the mud flat. It appeared likely that the Leviathan would remain hard and fast ashore until the tide approached the flood about 6 p. m.

Captain Herbert Hartley said it would be impossible for him to make a statement until he had reported to headquarters.

Caught by Tide. The pilot, Joseph Bigley, explained that it was a strong ebb from Kill Von Kull that was responsible. It caught the ship on the port side and before the drift could be controlled she was aground. There was 41 feet of water astern and 35 feet on the bow.

Pilot Bigley said he was trying to avoid the harbor traffic in the moderate fog by keeping to the left. He thought the water there would be deep enough for clearance. The tug Menominee went aground less than fifty feet from the place where the Leviathan hit the mud bank.

The passengers had expected to land at 11 a. m. Many were disappointed when they realized they were "hung up" down the bay, but most of the regarded it as a huge joke.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Police were today looking for Arthur Donovan, sought by Isabelle M. Hamburg, lecturer, who employed him to manage a lecture tour for her. He told her he was going to San Bernardino to secure an engagement for her, she said.

BEET RAISERS GET $200,000 MORE AS CHRISTMAS "GIFT"

Growers who produced beets this season for the Santa Ana Sugar company's plant at Dyer will have an approximate total of $200,000 in cash to spend for Christmas presents, if they want to use the finances that way, it was revealed here today.

C. A. Johnson of Huntington Beach, manager of the Orange county interests of the Holly Sugar corporation, owner of the sugar mills at Santa Ana, Anaheim and Huntington Beach, announced that checks for this total were in the mails today for those growers delivering beets to the Santa Ana plant during the season just closed.

An additional payment of an average of $1.89 per ton, is involved, the manager disclosed, Johnson adding that the base rate had been increased from 6 to 7 cents per pound. The latter figure approximated the average price received by the factory for sugar so far sold.

Pointing out that the growers have been paid a total of approximately $1,265,000, including today's payments, the manager said growers to date have received an average of $13.25 per ton.

The sugar market conditions indicate that the growers will profit further by receiving additional payments of considerable amounts," Johnson said.

"The excellent prices received for the crop just harvested, the splendid prospects for good sugar prices and possible high returns under contracts now being entered into are stimulating an increase in the acreage for next season."

"More than twice as many acres have already been signed as had been contracted at this time last year. Indications are the Holly Sugar corporation will next season operate its factory at Huntington Beach, as well as its mill at Dyer, just outside the city limits of Santa Ana."

The Huntington Beach factory was not operated the past season, because of a shortage in the acreage planted to beets.

Pointing to the value of the Dyer plant to Santa Ana in the matter of offering employment, Johnson said the payroll for the past season was between $300,000 and $400,000, with payments for labor and beets approximating $2,000,000.

Discussing the sugar market for next year, Johnson said there was no over production the past season, and that the market will be thoroughly cleaned up before next season's refined sugar is offered.

The tariff and increased consumption of beet sugar by residents of the state, are factors that made the prospect for 1924 very bright for the beet growers, Johnson said.

Why not sell those last year toys? Use cash for more Christmas joys.

KELS SPINAL FLUID TEST DUE TODAY

Prison Board Officials and Richardson Hurl Bitter Charges

(By United Press Leased Wire) SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 21.—Charges of "back tracking" and liar died to an echo here today between the headquarters of Governor Richardson and the state prison board, as surgeons prepared to make a spinal fluid test that may mean life to a man now doomed to die in two weeks from today.

The spinal column of Alex Kels, local "man butcher," is to be tapped late today in the Folsom prison infirmary, and three separate analyses are to be made to detect any disease that might cast doubt on the condemned man's sanity.

The last word of Judge C. E. McLaughlin, president of the prison board, has in it a hint of ferocity and of violence to Governor Richardson.

"He has given ample evidence that he hates me. I believe he has ground to suspect that I despise him. Should we get within arm's length, I, too, might become an ass."

Governor Richardson apparently closed his remarks to the prison board with the hurling of the expressive word "back tracker."

Prison Director Albert Boynton's last word reached the capitol via the news wires. Directed at the governor, it was:

"Deliberate and malicious falsehood."

Out at Folsom prison, a trusty this morning was boiling the instruments to be used, and wiping off the white enamel work in the operating room.

Charge Waste In Alameda Navy Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Protests against the inclusion of the "Alameda naval base scheme" in the naval lands bill, were voiced today by Senator King, Utah, and Representative Curry, California.

Both King and Curry characterized the proposal to construct a naval base at Alameda, Cal., as necessitating extravagant expenditure. Curry referred to the revival of the Alameda base plan as "unsavory."

Both statestmen urged the retention of the present base at Mare Island.

KLAN DEATH CASE RESTS WITH JURORS

Insanity Verdict Held Possible In Case of Slayer of Ku Klux Klan Official.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 21.—The fate of Phil E. Fox, Ku Klux Klan director, charged with killing W. S. Cobb, was in the hands of a jury today.

The jurors were deciding whether Fox was insane when he shot the leader of the Simmons faction in the internal klan war, or committed murder in an attempt to prevent exposure of alleged relations with women.

At 10:30 o'clock last night Judge G. R. Howard in superior court, ordered the jury to bed for the night after delivery of his charge.

LONG ILLNESS TAKES NOTED JOURNALIST

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Frank Cobb, veteran newspaperman, editor of the New York World, died at 2:30 this afternoon at his home after an illness of six months.

A leader of liberal journalism in New York for many years, Cobb was the champion of an editorial campaign waged on behalf of the League of Nations. He was a close personal friend of former President Wilson.

Even after his illness, cancer of the intestines, caused his confinement to bed, he continued to direct editorialial policy and participation of the United States in world affairs.

Cobb was a Kansan, born in Shawnee county in 1867. His early life was spent in the Michigan woods, where he acquired a physique that stood him in good stead in the later years of his distinguished journalistic career.

Cobb was a scholar, a linguist, a philosopher, a scientist, a traveler, a remarkable combination of human ability. He knew political economy and was a historian. Above all he was a leader of progress in the English speaking world.

For twenty years, Cobb was in close connection with the world's editorial page.

ARREST ENDS PLOT OF PAYROLL THUGS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Eight men were arrested here today shortly before they were scheduled to stage a $10,000 payroll robbery, according to Detective Lieutenant Cato and Cahill, who engineered the capture.

The police declined to reveal the men's names or the firm they had planned to victimize. The robbery was slated to occur within 30 minutes of the time the officers swooped down and affected the capture, it was reported.

The eight are said to be members of a bandit gang which Saturday night bound and gagged J. J. Griggs, pool hall proprietor, and robbed him. At least a score of other robberies during the past two weeks are credited to the band.

FIRST STEPS FOR CONFERENCE MADE

Envoy to Seek Agreement With U. S. For Protection of Aliens

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Japan has decided again to ask the American government for an agreement to protect the rights of Japanese in the United States, it was understood in authoritative circles today.

It is believed Ambassador Hanihara, the Japanese envoy to Washington, already has taken first steps looking to diplomatic negotiations for a settlement.

The problem has existed in one form or another for years, dating back to when California first prohibited Japanese from owning land. Not only California, but other western states have passed more drastic laws prohibiting Japanese from either leasing or holding land in any way for agricultural development.

The United States supreme court recently confirmed the constitutionality of these laws in California and Washington and this development is understood to be the signal for Japanese to seek diplomatic means for protecting the interests of her subjects here. It has been stated that since the supreme court decisions many Japanese are leaving California.

One of the two following courses of action are believed to be the most probable step by the Japanese.

An inquiry to the American government indicating a desire for negotiations as to when a discussion of the problem can be opened. Such a step probably will be regarded as constituting informal representations to the United States.

A formal protest to the American state department against the treatment of Japanese in western states, which might force negotiation of the question.

Ex-Kaiser Is Made 'Prince of Prussia'

BERLIN, Dec. 21.—The postulate that "once a Kaiser always a Kaiser," which William Hohenzollern's friends never tire of emphasizing, although he is a kaiser without a country, has been finally disposed of by a Prussian ministerial decree which gives William the designation of "Prince of Prussia," on the ground that he was that when he was born. The title is the same for the ex-Crown Prince.

The Zeitung am Mittag fails to see why the title of "Prince" should be returned if the Kaiser and the Crown Prince are taboo and why the mere family name of Hohenzollern is not good enough. It is pointed out that the ex-Kaiser's namesake, William II of Wurtemberg, voluntarily divested himself of the title of King after the 1918 revolution and adopted the designation Duke of Wurtemberg.

Premier Gonatas and Colonel Piastiras of the military directorate, the two strongest men in Athens at the moment, answered the demand of Republicans that the former resign by hastening the departure to Paris of a committee which will plead with Venizelos to return to Greece.

Simultaneously, they persuaded 250 deputies—a majority of the chamber—to cable the veteran statesman to come to Athens.

Thus, for the moment, they save their own positions, because they enjoy prestige as Venizelos' former associates and likewise the support of 1,000 certain officers who are for the ex-premier.

UPHOLDS MOVIE MAN IN FIXING 'COLOR LINE'

Action of the Princess theater management in segregating its patrons was justified, as a measure of maintaining order, in a ruling made by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm, it was revealed here today, following denial of a $3,500 damage suit brought against the theater and Manager C. E. Walker by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Carr of El Modena.

At the conclusion of the trial late yesterday Judge Drumm decided in favor of the defendants, he declaring that the Carrs, it appeared from the evidence, had been guilty of boisterous conduct at the theater and had gone there for the purpose of obtaining grounds for a damage action. Carr had admitted such a purpose, it was stated.

Carr and his Mexican wife brought the action for damages, after they were refused permission to sit on the lower floor of the theater and after they were ordered to the balcony, which was reserved, it was said, for Mexicans.

The theater was entitled to protect itself and its patrons by any means designed to keep order, the court ruled. Attorney Otto Jacobs represented the Carrs at the trial, Attorneys Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus appeared for the defense.

Wife Told to Leave Home Gets Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—A decree of divorce was given Mrs. Lucy H. Kirkman, daughter of the late Edward C. Harrison, well-known San Francisco attorney, by Superior Judge Griffin upon her testimony that her husband ordered her to leave his home. Represented by her brother, Attorney Gregory A. Harrison, Mrs. Kirkman said that she was married February 13, 1912, and that with her husband, Van Lear Kirkman, she went to Washington, D. C., to live. In November, 1920, Kirkman asked her to leave, and she came to live with her parents at 3329 Washington street.

Liquor Seized in S. F. Landed By Rum Ship

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—That the 200 cases of liquor seized at the Army-street wharf was part of the cargo of the British steamer Prince Albert is the belief of Probation Director Rutter. He had advised that the vessel, which is an alleged rum runner, left British Columbia December 14 with a cargo of 10,000 cases of whiskey and beer, presumably for Mexico. Fourteen truck loads were landed in the vicinity of San Luis Obispo and Los Angeles, Rutter says.

The Prince Albert is the vessel accused of cutting the Postal Telegraph company's Pacific cable a few weeks ago, entailing a loss of $100,000. There is a reward of $10,000 offered for the finding of the guilty persons.

SECOND MAN IN POISON BOOZE CASE FREED

The so-called "poison booze" case in connection with the recent death of Joe Conroy, Huntington Park glassworker, who drank too much bootleg liquor, according to a coroner's jury, passed into history today, so far as criminal prosecution was concerned.

A. P. Monahan, Huntington Beach oil worker, who was charged with manslaughter in connection with the case, was freed today by Superior Judge F. C. Drumm on a writ of habeas corpus asked by Attorney T. L. McFadden, representing Monahan.

Frank A. Gilroy, of Los Angeles, the other of the original two defendants in the case, had been so discharged earlier in the week. In making his ruling today, Judge Drumm made it clear that the writ was not decided upon a question of the law involved, but only upon a question of fact. The facts, as stated in the case, he said, made it impossible to link Monahan with any sale of liquor to Conroy.

The liquor, it was said, was sold to Tanager Anderson, a companion of Conroy. Incidentally, the one bottle of liquor thus sold was not sufficient in quantity to cause the fatality, it was believed. Conroy was shown to have later stolen three more bottles from Monahan's stock. The question of quantity did not, however, enter into the matter before the court. The failure to show a sale of liquor by Monahan to Conroy governed the court's decision, it was said.

DENVER, Dec. 21.—Horses here are no longer worth their feed, said E. K. Whitehead of the state department for prevention of cruelty to animals. He has listed scores of horses—driving, riding and work—free for the asking. "They're not decrepit nags," he said.

Society

Woman's Bible Class

Members of the Woman's Bible class of the Christian church whose birthdays fall in the last quarter of the year were hostesses at a delightfully planned Christmas party Wednesday afternoon at the Community house.

Appropriate decorations emphasized the spirit of Noel and were arranged by a committee composed of Mesdames Jesse Williams, E. R. Curtis, R. H. Chapin and Mills. Arriving guests were greeted by a receiving line headed by Mrs. F. M. Gist, teacher of the class and including Mrs. Hoff, Mrs. James, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Porter. Following a short period of greetings, the enjoyable program arranged by Mrs. L. Crasher and Mrs. Cox, was opened with a victrola rendering of "The Little Town of Bethlehem."

Continuing, the program offered Harriet Morris in readings, Miss Carrie Seaton in piano solo, Master George Curtis in readings, ("The Christmas Spirit" and "Away in the Manger"), Mrs. P. T. Porter in readings, and a spirited guessing contest. Dainty and appetizing refreshments were then served by the refreshment committee, Mrs. Price, Mrs. McCaffrey, Mrs. Knights, Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Miss Pringle. One of the pleasant features of the afternoon was the presentation to Mrs. Gist, the beloved teacher of the class, of a beautiful bouquet and a potted fern to Mrs. Porter, wife of the pastor.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Fraternal Brotherhood lodge met last night with a big crowd of members and their children at M. W. A. hall, where a Christmas tree and program was the order of the evening.

President P. A. Trickey was in charge, assisted by the superintendent of the juvenile lodge, Mrs. J. D. Sanborn, Mrs. Trickey and Mrs. Crane. The tree was a very large one, reaching to the ceiling, splendidly decorated, illuminated with a large number of lights, and laden with presents and candy.

The program of the evening offered a recitation, Thomas Chatman; solo, Harry Briggs; recitation, James Wright; solo, Edward Fitzgerald; Christmas carol, Alberta Briggs, Esther Sanborn and Helen Fickas; recitation, Dorothy Deck. Everybody enjoyed the program which was given by the members of the juvenile lodge.

Next meeting on December 27 will be initiation night with several new members to be received into the order.

Sunday School Party

Boys and girls of the junior department of the First M. E. Sunday school assembled with their teachers yesterday afternoon in the beautifully decorated basement of the church for their Christmas party.

Remembering that the spirit of Christmas is "giving", each child brought a little parcel of rice, beans or Ivory soap, to be sent to the children of the David and Margaret Home at La Verne.

After a beautiful program of Christmas carols and recitations and the Christmas story told by Etta Hale, the children entered into a half-hour of lively games on the church playground. Then came the Christmas treat of freshly popped corn and candy canes which made sixty-five boys and girls most happy.

St. Elizabeth's Guild

The members of St. Elizabeth's Guild of the Church of the Messiah had Time turned backward last Wednesday evening when they were children again, just for a night at the jolly Christmas party given at the home of Mrs. Kensil Brown on Cypress avenue.

Twenty-five "kiddies" of charming age sat about upon the floor and had a merry time about a lovely Christmas tree, from which they were presented with toys dear to childish hearts.

PLAN TO COMPLETE DEATH JURY TODAY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Opening testimony in the case of Edward H. Carleton, naval deserter, charged with killing Special Officer Robert Magee, was expected to be taken this afternoon. Attorneys on both sides expressed the opinion today that selection of the jury will be complete this morning.

E. E. Mitchell, of the county surveyor's office, will be the first witness called, the prosecution has said. He will present a diagram of the house where the fatal shooting occurred.

Irene Schwartz, chum of Carleton's bride, Jeanne, is held as a reserve witness and may testify during the trial. Carleton will, it is expected, take the stand in his own defense.

REGULATE DANCING.

MASON CITY — Marquis of Queensberry rules, with strangle and catch-as-catch-can holds barred, must be employed to regulate dancing here, according to Miss Arcley Marshall, city welfare worker. The bunny-hug belongs on the davenport, not on the dance floor, she says. Girls under eighteen and boys under sixteen will be barred from dance halls here.

Silver Cords Install Splendid Group of New Officers

With William Iverson as worshipful master, Silver Cord lodge, No.
505, P. and A. M., was today entering upon the fourth promising year of its existence following the installation ceremonies held last night at Masonic temple in the presence of several hundred interested members and friends.

In carrying out their plans for an interesting installation, the Silver Cords spared no pains and were hosts at the beginning of the evening, at one of the most delicious banquets ever served in the temple's banquet room.

Long tables decked with holly, pepper branches and red geraniums were surrounded by members and guests who each found an attractive menu with a symbolic silver cord and containing the evening's program.

Planned by Charles McCausland and his committee, the dinner prepared under the skillful direction of Mrs. Clara Bullock offered oyster cocktail, fruit salad, roast young turkey with oyster dressing, gravy, mashed potatoes, candied yams, celery, cranberry jelly, hot rolls, hot mince pie, pumpkin pie, cheese, coffee and salted almonds.

Following invocation reverently offered by the Rev. F. T. Porter, Jack C. Hayden, as toastmaster, presided in his clever and friendly manner, calling upon Robert Price, Silver Cord's first master, for a few words on "Fellowship of Masonry."

In rapid succession were other clever responses to toasts on "Masonry and Womanhood," by J. W. Skidmore of Laguna Beach; "Masonry and Business," by Guy J. Gilbert, and "Masonry and the Home," by W. W. Jones, past master of the lodge.

The entertaining talks were varied by a violin solo by Mrs. Elmer Held, who, with much expression played "Slave Song" and two vocal numbers by Robert L. Brown who,
in splendid voice, gave "Angus MacDonald," and "Annie Laurie."

Miss Ruth Armstrong was accompanist for both artists.
Returning to the chapter room,
Asa Hoffman, completing a prosperous and harmonious year in the master's chair, acted as installing deputy as master of ceremonies.

Officers presented for installation in addition to Mr. Iverson, were Ward H. Sutton, senior warden; Charles H. McCausland, in-duer; Alex. Brownridge, treasurer; C. L. Pritchard, secretary; Fred Merker, chaplain; Jack
C. Hayden, senior deacon; Owen A.
Murray, junior deacon; Jack Willey, marshal; Roy Canterbury, senior steward; Dr. A. N. Crain, junior steward; Robert L. Conway, organist; Henry Walters, tyler.

Interpersed with the impressive installation features were program numbers where Mrs. F. W. Sla-baugh sang "The Robin Woman's Song" by Cadman, and then amidst intense stillness gave the beautiful "Silent Night" in an unforgettable manner.

Miss Armstrong gave her faultless accompaniment as she did for Bruce Monroe who, with a most pleasing voice sang "Some of These Days."

Adding variety, Mrs. A. N. Crain
a favorite with Masonic audiences, gave "Threadneedle Steel," whose message of self-sacrifice was a most fitting one for the holidays.

Short and informal talks followed the installation, both the retiring and the newly-installed masters making very pleasing little addresses. Mr. Hoffman was presented with the Silver Cord's jewel by the lodge, with Ward Sutton as spokesman. The handsome diamond was mounted in a ring which bore the initials "A. H." in a clever design.

Other speakers were Charles Mitchell, soon to retire from the office of master of Lodge No. 241 in favor of W. L. Duggan, who also was greeted by Mr. Iverson;
W. W. Jones, Robert Price and Charles McCausland.

In his talk of appreciation of the splendid spirit of co-operation shown during the past year by Silver Cord members, and also by Lodge No. 241, Mr. Hoffman took occasion to commend Mrs. James T. Carter for the attractive decorations arranged by her and her committee, also Mr. Carter for his capable directing of the dinner's serving by the staff of amateur waiters from the lodge membership.

One of the minor features of the evening but one adding to the effect, was the fact that all the men presented for installation were attired in faultless evening dress.
Acting upon their example, many of the fellow members and visiting members also wore full dress, adding a distinctive note of important formality to the affair and setting it apart from the regular business sessions.

Newcomers Banqueted
By Men's Bible Class

A very enjoyable social evening was provided by the Men's Bible class of the United Presbyterian church Thursday evening. The guests included recent arrivals in Santa Ana, together with other friends and members of the congregation.

The "feed" was provided by the Ladies' Aid society.
Harry Warner arranged a pleasing musical program, consisting of songs by Mr. Waters and Elmer Thompson, members of the church choir; violin selection, by Jack Langley, and a whistling solo by Ray Milman, all of which were enjoyed.

Short impromptu talks were made by the pastor, the Rev. W.
H. McPeck, A. J. McFadden, former teacher of the class; J. A.
George and Mr. Munro and Mr.
Donaghy, two recent arrivals from Canada. S. H. Finley, as toastmaster, extended to all a hearty invitation to join some class in the Bible school.

Little Birthday Maid In Party Hostess To Her Friends

Little Miss Gladiola Wolford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Wolford of 1013 South Main street, was the happy hostess Wednesday afternoon to a group of seventeen young playmates who gathered to celebrate her ninth birthday.

Holiday decorations gave a festive appearance to the home and a happy afternoon of games was presided over by Mrs. Wolford and her sister, Mrs. Jack Delory, of Boston, recently arrived with her two children, Jack Jr. and Charlotte, to spend the winter in the Wol-ford home.

The two little Bostonians were delighted guests of honor at the party also and enjoyed meeting their cousin's young friends. Many pretty gifts were received by Gladiola and examined with interest by all the youngsters.

At the tea hour, way was led to the dainty blue and white breakfast room where birthday refreshments were centered around a delicious cake adorned with nine pink candles.

Enjoying the party with Gladiola
and her cousins, Charlotte and Jack, were Doris Harrell, Madeline Hannett, Alice and Mabel Rouselle, Gelene and Louise Gobel, Mabel Barrows, Bala Gross, Opal Moore, Ruby Moore, Theda Hendrickson, Martha Helen and Marian Chamberlain.

"Get-together" Party Held at McKay Home

A merry little "get-together" meeting of the members of the Register circulation department was enjoyed on a recent evening when William L. McKay, circulation manager, and Mrs. McKay (who, according to her lord and master, is "manager of the manager") entertained at their home, 223 South Sycamore street.

After an exciting hour devoted to wrapping and tying an assortment of gifts for a special purpose, cards were introduced and the excitement of fan-tan furnished the evening's entertainment.

At a late hour, Mrs. McKay served an appetizing little supper to the guests who included the Misses Julia Linsenbaker, Gladys Blakely and Clara Kramer, Mr. and Mrs.
Harry Poor and Herbert McConnell.

Los Angeles Nuptials Of Local Interest

A wedding of unusual interest in Santa Ana was that solemnized yesterday in Los Angeles when Miss Rosamond Craig, daughter of George M. Craig of Pasadena, became the bride of J. Herbert Timmons, local realtor, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Timmons of this city.

The ceremony was performed at 11 o'clock at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral by Dean McCormick after which Mr. and Mrs. Timmons left for San Francisco. They will make their home in Santa Ana. Before her marriage Mrs. Timmons was connected with the out-door relief division of the Los Angeles County charities.

The A. D. Club Party Proves Merry Event Of Yule-tide

A very pleasant time was enjoyed last night by the members of the
A. D. club at the home of their president, Miss Gladys Young of 625 South Main street, where the Christmas motif was carried out in all the decorations.

Music and singing were enjoyed by all, also guessing games with the prize going to Miss Verna Campbell.

A very pretty Christmas tree with many beautiful gifts was one of the main features, each girl exchanging gifts with her "capsule" friend and each one receiving a dainty handkerchief from her hostess.

At a late hour the girls were ushered into the dining room where a pretty table was arranged with each place marked by a favor. A basket of beautiful poinsettias adorned the table.

This little club although keeping its activities quiet has been organized for over a year. All dues and fees collected are put aside to help the poor and needy. This Christmas the girls have found a family which is really in need, and are giving them a Christmas tree, candles, toys, clothing and a real Christmas dinner.

Enjoying the friendly hospitality of Miss Young were Elsie Harris, Idah Talley, Eloise Ray, Verna
Campbell, Hazel Milligan, Emilie
Snyder, Beas Mathias, Evelyn
Noble, Nina Davis, Myrtle Huff, Aimee Larson and Katherine Millgen, a guest from the east.

Next meeting an election of officers will be held at the home of Emilie Snyder.

Christmas Dinner and Tree Give Pleasure To Friendly Group

Mrs. William Clary of 413 Morti-mer street was charming hostess Wednesday evening at a Christmas dinner at her cozy apartment, the guests being a coterie of her nurse friends.

The rooms were gay with Yuletide decorations of holly and bells and a sumptuous turkey dinner with all its appetizing accessories were served at six o'clock. Later, upon a handsomely decorated tree was found a lovely present for each guest, the gift being drawn by number.

The evening hours were happily whiled away with interesting games of "500," the prizes being awarded Miss Anne Liebermann for first honors and Miss Elizabeth Spohr for consolation.

Those for whom covers were laid in addition to Mrs. Clary were Mrs.
George Barrett; the Misses Neva Sturdevant, Grace Johnson, Elizabeth Spohr, Anne and Rose Liebermann, and Gertrude Sommers.

Little Dancers Plan Day Nursery Gifts

Among the happy parties planned for children at the holiday season will be that which Mrs. Maude Putnam is presenting at her East Fourth street studio tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, with the members of her juvenile dancing classes and their mothers as guests.

"Twill be a truly Christmas affair with a pretty tree sparkling with gifts. And it is in those gifts that the real Christmas spirit will be shown. For each little girl will have the pleasure of placing a present on the tree instead of taking one from it, and when the afternoon's fun is over, the tree and its pretty fruits will be taken to the Day Nursery for the little people there.

CONSTRUCTION MONEY FOR 'Y' BEING PAID

Approximately $47,000 is due January 1 in Y. M. C. A. building fund pledges, according to a statement made today by E. B. Sprague, treasurer of the "Y" building committee. He said that from indications practically the entire amount due would be paid into the treasury by that date.

Splendid co-operation in the collection of the delinquent payments due July 1 is being met with, according to Sprague. He said that approximately $7000 that was due in July has been paid into the treasury during the past month.

This leaves a balance of approximately $12,000 still delinquent from the past three quarterly payments, he said. According to Sprague, the past quarterly payments totalled $141,000.

Sprague added that it was his opinion that practically the entire amount due in January would be paid up before the end of that month.

"I wish to impress upon subscribers to the building fund, however," Sprague continued, "the necessity of making this payment promptly. The building is almost completed and every day contractors are completing their end of the work. When they have finished they expect their money."

"These bills of the contractors cannot be met unless subscribers to the fund co-operate with the building committee to the extent of discharging their obligations promptly."

"When the building committee was appointed we were told to erect a Y. M. C. A. building. We are doing that. To date the subscribers to the building fund have been very prompt in discharging their obligations as they became due and it is for a continuation of this promptness that I am making a plea at present."

FEARS REVENGE PLOT OF MATE OVER SUIT

(By United Press Leased Wire) LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Elsie La Maie, defendant in a sensational divorce action filed by her wife, Helen La Maie, charging that he attempted to sell her to a negro gambler for $500,000, remained in hiding today, his whereabouts unknown despite determined efforts to find him.

That the prominent theatrical man and film hucker is somewhere in Los Angeles or vicinity is agreed. Possibly, it is admitted, he is still in Long Beach, where his wife resides. It is understood she has asked police protection, fearing that her husband will attempt to injure her.

La Maie is reported as saying he intends to fight the charges. He will claim, it is said, that the story of his attempting to sell his wife to Lou Harris Baker, Juarez gambler, is a myth.

Mrs. La Maie and her attorney are in frequent consultation with federal and postal authorities. Possibility of Mann act charges being brought against either La Maie or the negro is remote, since Mrs. La Maie has admitted that she never saw Baker.

Postal inspectors are studying letters purported to have been written by Baker to La Maie concerning the proposed sale, with a possibility that action will be taken against the former, should he be in this country, on a charge of sending obscene communications through the mail.

Appearance in El Paso of another woman claiming to be La Maie's wife is mystifying to the Mrs. La Maie here. She admitted she received a letter from a violet Haylor, of El Paso, claiming she had fallen in love with the film hucker, but did not know he was married.

The El Paso woman says her name is Mrs. Violet La Maie, according to advice from that city. Disappearance from the department of justice files of important letters bearing on the case has been reported. It is claimed that some of them have reached La Maie's hands.

MRS. FORBES SOUTHERN. SHENANDOAH — The divorced wife of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former head of the veterans' bureau, was a Shenandoah girl. She was Miss Kitty McGogy. She and Forbes lived some years in Hawaii and she wrote a book on the islands. Shortly before the death of President Harding she wrote a series of newspaper articles on Mrs. Harding in the White House.

Phone Rings While Pair Seek License To Wed; No 'Sale'

Two youths strolled into County Clerk J. M. Back's office today and stood near the marriage license register.

Clerk Backs started to "wait on" them when the telephone claimed his attention. It was a long distance call from Long Beach.

A voice over the phone informed Backs that two youths, whose names were given, would probably call at his office seeking a marriage license. Backs was instructed to refuse them because it was said, they were under age.

"All right," Backs responded, "I'll turn them down."

He turned to "wait upon" the two waiting youths.

CALLS HOLIDAY TRUCE IN BIG CHURCH WAR

(By United Press Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—A Christmas truce in the dispute between Fundamentalists and Modernists, which has rendered the Methodist-Episcopal church appeared probable today.

Bishop William T. Manning of the diocese of New York, in a pastoral letter to 281 rectors in the diocese, urging discussion be suspended during the Christmas season, but showed no weakening in his firm stand for belief in the fundamental doctrines of the church, including the virgin birth of Christ.

At the same time, however, fuel was added to the flames of doctrinal controversy by a debate between Dr. Charles Francis Potter of the West Side Unitarian church and Dr. John Roach Straton of Calvary Baptist church.

Dr. Potter, supporting the Modernist cause, was awarded a decision by the judges.

NIGHT OPENING OF STORES IS APPRECIATED

That many Christmas purchasers had waited for night opening of the stores was proven conclusively by the big volume of business done by local stores last night, according to statements made by various merchants today.

Last night was the first of a series of night openings decided upon yesterday by merchants. The stores will be open tonight, tomorrow night and Monday evening dealers pointed out.

One merchant said that night opening will prove a boon to the men, many of whom have little opportunity during the day to do their Christmas shopping.

"Women can get away on most any day to visit the stores, but men who work have little or no opportunity for this," declared the merchant. "Thus the keeping of the stores open in the evening is a great convenience to the men."

Prediction was made that the volume of night purchases the remainder of the period before Christmas would be greater than that of last night.

According to statements, the volume of business done during the shopping period so far is better than for the same time last year. Dealers expressed themselves as well satisfied with the Christmas trade, and anticipated sales of the closing days bringing the average for the holidays above that of the previous year.

BURNS $100 IN BILLS HE HID IN BASKET

When Harry King, apple merchant of Costa Mesa, inadvertently burnt up a large part of one day's receipts from his business, it was bad enough.

But when, inadvertently again, he told several of his friends about it, that was almost too much.

For it didn't take long for the story to spread over the thriving community, it was learned here today. Result—all King's friends, and a number of persons whom he didn't even know, began "kidding" him.

King was puzzled last Sunday night as to what to do with his day's receipts, which amounted to considerably more than $100, it was said. As the bank was closed, King decided to hide the bills, silver and checks in the last place in the world where a burglar would be likely to look for it—the wastebasket.

Monday morning, bright and early, King opened shop and began brightening up the premises. In the process he threw the contents of the wastebasket on a bonfire—he had forgotten that the basket contained the previous day's receipts. Before he realized what he had done the flames had consumed all but about $30 worth of silver, which he managed to rake out of the fire before it melted.

Sunday morning services at the First Christian church will offer no special musical program other than the Christmas hymns, and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hummel, who will sing "Holly Night."

In the evening at 7 o'clock, the anthem, "Behold I Bring Tidings of Great Joy" (Churchill) will be sung, solo parts being taken by Mrs. La Rue Mayer and Miss Litzetta Phillips. Curie's two daughters upon her decease.

Scoffed at Harding Illness; Wife Sues

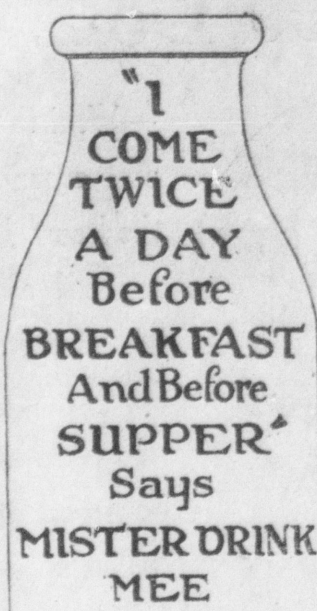

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—California postal inspectors are endeavoring to apprehend a man who is said to have been stealing letters containing checks and money orders, and later sending them to the First National bank of Palo Alto, without effort to alter or cash them. Local postal authorities believe the man to be demented.

In letters which the man is said to have mailed the bank, and in which were made remittances of checks and money orders, the man invariably signed himself "Jesse James Jr." No reason was assigned by him, it is said, why he stole the money orders and checks and later sent them to the Palo Alto bank.

2 POST OFFICE POSITIONS ARE CREATED DUE TO GROWTH

Reward Carrier In Service 25 Years By Boost to Position of Foreman

RECEIPTS TAKE JUMP

Additional Clerkship Also Authorized; Place Is Tendered Woman

C. C. Langley, one of the best known mail carriers in Santa Ana, today was receiving the congratulations of his friends and co-workers upon his promotion to a new position created in the post office here and made necessary by the steady and substantial growth of postal business in this city. Postmaster T. E. Stephenson announced that Langley has been promoted to the position of foreman.

At the same time, the postmaster, through authority given him by the post office department in Washington, announced that he had added a new clerk to the Santa Ana staff. Mrs. Ethel McKeith was given this position.

Warranted By Growth "These additions," Stephenson said, "were authorized by the department on the strength of the fact that the Santa Ana post office,

Plan to Wed? Shop Early For Licenses!

Do your matrimonial shopping early! This was the sage advice broadcast today to all prospective newlyweds by County Clerk J. M. Backs as he and his deputies encountered the van of the holiday rush for marriage licenses.

Backs pointed out that there is a last-minute rush for wedding permits just as there is for Christmas gifts and for the parcel post window.

Numerous suitcases are being passed around now at Yuletide for next June's wedding business.

Even now, he said, the eleventh hour rush has started and unless the license hunters shop early many a bride may be left waiting at the church because the groom didn't get in line early enough.

"Only don't leave her waiting at the church or anywhere else," warned Backs. "Bring her along. We have to see her. Must guard against mixed marriages or issuing licenses to minors without parent's or guardian's consent. Also get her signature on application blank and license register. 'No, we don't tell age by looking at teeth.'"

SANTA TOUCHED YULETIDE MENU BY TOT'S PLEA FOR ORPHANS AT JAIL HERE IS REVEALED

Jolly, Old Fellow Reads Letters at Post Office And Promises Joys

Santa Claus, a mighty busy man, took time out today to read his mail.

"Greetings!" the jolly old boy sang out, as he edged his way into the post office and shoved the customers right and left. "Greetings, Mr. Postmaster Stephenson! Also salutations and a few what-nots! I understand you've been saving my mail. That so?"

"Yes," said the postmaster "and reading it, too."

"What! Reading my mail! Why, what's the meaning of this outrage? Didn't you know I was coming to Santa Ana?"

"Well," said the postmaster, "I wasn't so very sure about that—and it was getting pretty close to Christmas. I thought I might have to help you do some calling—so what was more natural than that I should read at least a part of your mail? Thought I was doing you a big favor!"

Eager to See Letters The postmaster pretended to be awfully mad. But he wasn't. He was just fooling—and Santa knew it.

"All right, all right," grumbled Kris Kringle, "but I wanted to read some of the letters myself. You didn't read them all, did you?"

"Not quite," the postmaster hastened to reply. "But here's one that touched my heart. It's from little Idus F. Harper, out here in the country a-ways—Box 82, R. D.

Roast Pork and Applesauce to Be Piece de Resistance on Bill

It will be apple sauce for the county jail prisoners this Christmas.

When Joe Irvine, deputy jailor, made that fact known today he was not dealing with current slang. He was talking about the big Christmas dinner that is being planned as part of the Yuletide program by and for Orange county's unwilling guests.

Applesauce is just one of the alluring items upon the expansive bill of fare which will be scanned critically by the jail boarders as they gather around the festive board promptly at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Christmas day.

Irvine testified to the promptness of the gathering. "The boys are on their toes and there will be no delay after the dinner gong rings," he said.

Here is the reason, as revealed by Irvine:

Here is 'Layout' Roast pork and applesauce. Sweet potatoes. Pumpkin pie. Apples, nuts, candy, etc., etc., etc.

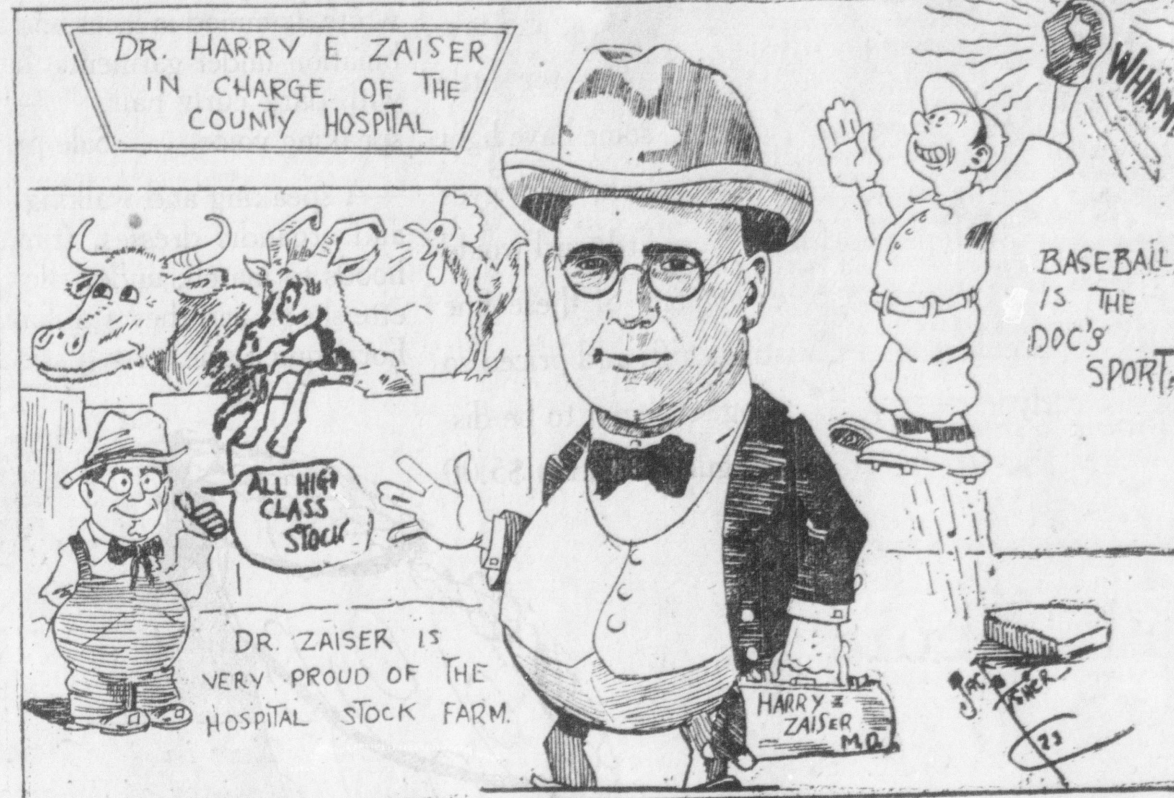

Chief A. R. Bratton, jail trusty, is already busily planning his menu, which will be in the nature of his farewell sendoff to his fellow prisoners. Bratton will be placed on parole immediately after Christmas, it is said. Naturally, Irvine said, the chef will seek to "leave a good taste" behind him.

FONDLING KNIFE, COUNTY HOSPITAL CHIEF SAYS, "SORRY, HAVE BUT I FACE TO GIVE"

Dr. Harry Zaizer, than whom the county supervisors and all Orange county thinks there is no other but—as "warden" of the county hospital and the county farm—who has struck up intimate facial acquaintance and "drawing account" with Artist Jack Fisher.

BY JACK FISHER.

Good evening, folks. Now that you have come to what we consider the best page of The Register, let us give you the low-down on Dr. Harry E. Zaizer, who is in charge of the Orange county hospital and farm.

We went out to the hospital to get the dope on the genial Doc and upon our arrival sat down in his office to wait for him, as he was out playing "hide the knife" with some one of the patients.

Well, at any rate, the Doc finished his game and dashed into the room running a race with a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles. Dr. Harry won by a nose. His nose. When we explained our worthy mission to him he looked about as happy as a jazz hound listening to a funeral dirge. But after a few moments he cheered up and exclaimed brightly, "I regret that I have but one face to sacrifice to the readers of The Register."

Cultivates Knowledge. "Well, one face is plenty to suit us," we answered. "Kindly strike a natural pose and calm those agitated tonsils. And as we sketch in our clever way you may tell us the story of your life."

"To make a long story short I shall be a trifle brief," explained the doctor kindly.

"You amaze us," we come back, "but please go on."

"I always wanted to be a doctor," began the doctor, picking up a long surgical knife and looking at us longingly. "So at a very young and tender age I began to cultivate my sense of diagnosis and, when I was a mere boy, I could tell at a glance if a person was suffering from smallpox or a case of broken arches."

"This is really remarkable," we replied, "many an able doctor has gone through life without being able to make that distinction."

"Has Busy Post." "Yes, yes," resumed the doctor. "However, after I finished college I practiced for several years in the East. Nine years ago I came to Santa Ana and took my present position. This is a post that keeps a man mighty busy and I am on the job many hours a day. We have a splendid farm here where we raise most of the products that are used out here. Then we also have a prize winners. One of my greatest pleasures is caring for the livestock."

Dr. Zaizer is very fond of baseball and used to be well known as

KRIS KRINGLE'S 2500 KIDDIES HERE CERTAIN TO BE MADE JUBILANT

Great, Moving Christmas Spirit Will Be Shown At Park Tomorrow

ELKS FULLY PREPARED

Toys For All Boys, While Girls Will Get Dolls, Santa Claus Advises

Birch park will be turned into a fairy garden tomorrow afternoon. The dreams of 2500 kiddies will come true.

Santa Claus, himself, will stalk about, distributing gifts with a lavish hand. There will be dolls, and dolls, and dolls!

And scooters and toys for the boys! And great baskets of nice, luscious fruit!

And hundreds of pounds of candy! And many other things too numerous to mention—but known and loved by every normal girl and boy in the land.

Sponsors Moved Back of it all will be the great, moving spirit of Christmas. In the extreme background will be found the men responsible for this outpouring of love. And behind those men, who will take time out to play host to thousands, will be the spirit of Elkdom—that same spirit that animates nearly a million men in 1500 cities scattered throughout the United States.

"These children," said W. W. Wassser, secretary of Santa Ana lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., "come here with open minds and hearts aglow, expecting us to help Santa Claus do his great annual work in Santa Ana."

"How can we fill our obligation to them? By doing our very best to make them happy on the very eve of Christmas. That is why we are going to pack the park with bright-faced, eager, expectant children tomorrow. Twenty-five hundred will come expecting gifts. All will be satisfied."

According to committeemen in charge of the Elks Christmas party, the program will be launched promptly at 1 p. m., when a Punch and Judy show preceding the giving of gifts, will be staged. Long before this hour, however, hundreds of children, flocking to the park from all sections of the city, will be occupants of the benches fronting the stage. Last year, with perfect weather prevailing, nearly 2,000 boys and girls were on hand as early as noon.

A short time after the Punch and Judy show closed, leaving the youngsters chuckling happily,

BARGE SERVICE PLAN DETAILS ARE BARED

The placing in service of a shallow-draft boat for water transportation between Newport harbor and Los Angeles harbor is the ultimate goal of the Hodge Transportation system, F. M. Hodge, president of the company, announced today in connection with a statement that his company within the next six weeks will institute a barge service between the two harbors.

Operating a freight transportation service, covering many points in Southern California, the company recently was granted by the railroad commission a permit for extending its service to include the route between Santa Ana and Newport harbor, on condition that the company install the barge service.

Pointing out that the company had been offered warehouse facilities at Newport, Hodge said that it is possible that Newport could be made the central distributing point for all fertilizer going into Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties and in some portions of Los Angeles county, particularly Pomona and Ontario.

He said that the nearest point his line served in Riverside county was at least twenty-two miles closer to Newport harbor than to Los Angeles harbor. He pointed this out as an instance of saving that may be made in transportation cost.

Declaring it is the wish of the

Built by Hudson under Hudson Patents

Essex closed car comforts now cost $170 less than ever before. Also with this lower price you get an even more attractive Coach body and a six cylinder motor built on the principle of the famous Hudson Super-Six.

It continues Essex qualities of economy and reliability, known to 135,000 owners. It adds a smoothness of performance which heretofore was exclusively Hudson's. Both cars are alike in all details that count for long satisfactory service at small operating cost.

You will like the new Essex in the nimble ease of its operation. Gears shift quietly. Steering is like guiding a bicycle, and care of the car calls for little more than keeping it lubricated. That, for the most part, is done with an oil can.

The chassis design lowers the center of gravity, giving greater comfort and safety, at all speeds, on all roads. You will be interested in seeing how this is accomplished.

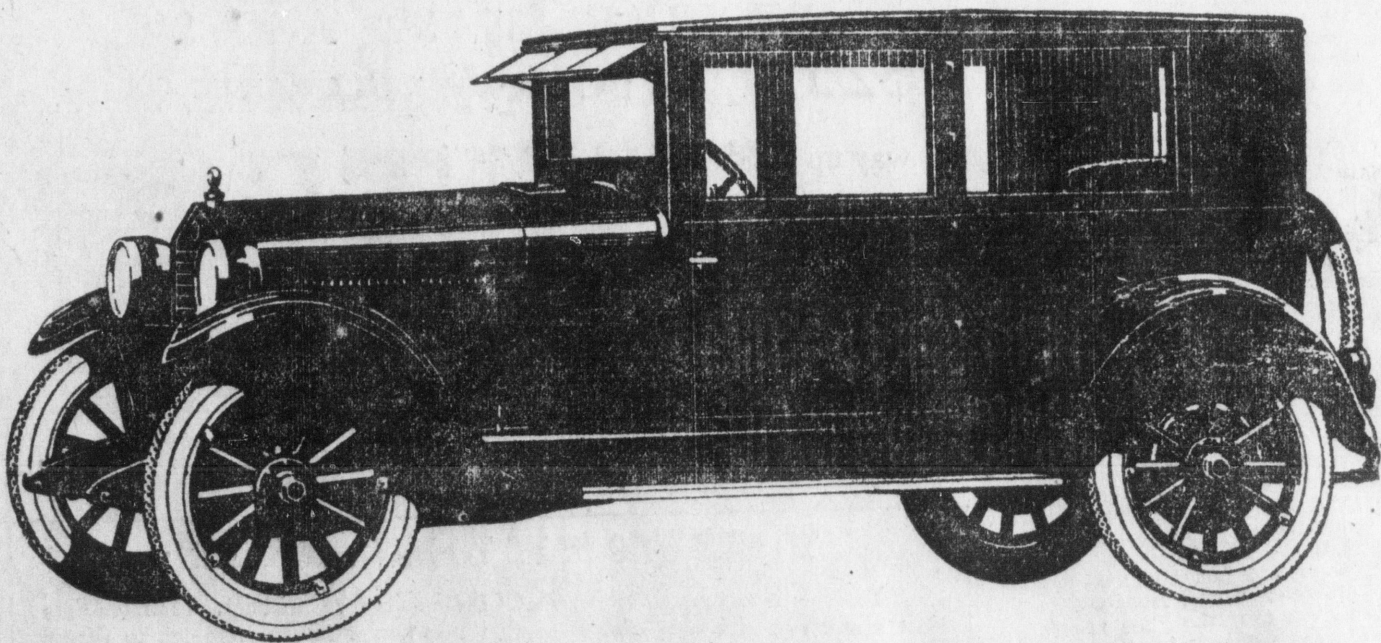

Greater fuel economy is obtained. The car is lighter, longer and roomier. You will agree that from the standpoint of appearance, delightful performance, cost and reliability, the new Essex provides ideal transportation.

FIRST WIFE NAMES SECOND IN ACTION

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Mrs. Anna Conover, wife of Major John Thomas Conover, was charged with luring, capturing and monopolizing the affections of her own husband. She admits the charge and wants to know "why not?" But as a result of her relationship with her husband she has been named as co-respondent in a divorce action brought by her predecessor, Mrs. Teresa Maxwell Conover.

It all came about when "The Purple Lady," which is the glamorous pseudonym of the first Mrs. Conover, appeared in New York recently and hired a lawyer. It now develops, with the filing of her divorce papers, that Mrs. Conover No. 1 is of the belief that she was never properly succeeded. In other words, since Major Conover married her in New York and his second wife in Pennsylvania after being divorced in that state, the second marriage does not count in the New York courts.

DEMANDS FOR TAX SURPRISE DESIGNER

VIENNA, Dec. 21.—Paul Poiret, the famous Parisian fashion arbiter, who staged an elaborate fashion show here with live models, is exceedingly surprised that the Austrian tax officials should have demanded sixteen million crowns from him.

Poiret has indignantly protested that he came to Vienna, a city of good taste, from Paris, a city of better taste, on an unselfish, artistic mission, and that it is ridiculous that art should be taxed.

The officials, however, are firm and it is expected that high Austrian and French diplomats will have to arrange a compromise of some sort.

The officials have dropped their demand for a cash payment, but Poiret had to leave one of his latest creations, a chinchilla coat, as payment before he was permitted to conclude his show.

Yuletide Menu At Jail Is Revealed

Christmas preparations have invaded the jail atmosphere and each prisoner seems to be taking a personal as well as gastronomic interest in the affair.

The spirit and cheer of Christmas, it would appear, knows no laws and cares not who violates them. Certainly the bars and solid walls of the county jail have been powerless to repel the advances of jolly old St. Nicholas.

Nor is feasting the only festivity planned. According to Mike Burns, one of the federal prisoners and "judge" of the kangaroo court, the federal tank will probably stage a "show" on Christmas eve. The jail is never lacking for talent. In this respect, he says, although the two Panteras performers who were recently inmates of the jail are gone, there are others to take their place.

Then, too, the churches usually take an interest in the prisoners at this season and the singing of Christmas carols at the jail on Christmas eve has been a pleasant custom for years. The prisoners are looking forward to its repetition this Christmas, according to the jailers.

Illinois Woman Sues For Heart Balm

ELGIN, Ill., Dec. 21.—Mrs. Loreta Montanye, once known as Elgin's handsomest widow, made good a promise made six years ago that some day she would resume a legal battle to collect compensation from Major George D. Sherman, veteran of the Indian and Civil wars.

The major is dead. Twice Mrs. Montanye, now 59 years old, sued him for breach of promise. She lost both suits.

"I'm not through yet," the widow warned when an Elgin jury returned the verdict against her in her last suit.

The major left an estate of $60,000.

This time she is not suing to collect for breach of promise. She asks $15,000 "for room and board, pressing, cleaning and manuring."

It is probable that Mrs. Montanye will seek to introduce evidence in connection with the breach of promise actions. She had charged that the major had promised to marry her, had "smothered me with kisses until I couldn't speak," had presented her with a bracelet, a bottle of whisky and a picture of "September Morn."

When the major, then 75, won the last breach of promise suit in 1917, he felt so good that he tried to enlist for service in the World war.

having passed the $90,000 point in gross receipts, is entitled to an assistant postmaster, a superintendent of mails, a foreman and an additional clerk.

"In 1922, the gross receipts of the Santa Ana post office climbed far beyond the $90,000 mark. In fact the figures for the year were $103,000. Indications are that gross receipts this year will go beyond $120,000. Yesterday morning $5,000 was still needed to reach $120,000. The day's receipts clipped $1,000 from the $5,000."

Representative Phil Swing, co-operating with post office officials here, has done much to place the need of the Santa Ana office before the proper authorities in Washington, it was said. Swing feels that Santa Ana, one of the Southern California cities which has shown the most substantial growth, is entitled to the fullest co-operation in this respect.

Langley, moved up to the position of foreman, has been an employee of the Santa Ana post office for twenty-five years. He is a son of Judge E. T. Langley of this city, and is well known in Orange county musical circles. Postmaster Stephenson said Langley's elevation was merited because of his long and faithful service.

Langley Praised.

"I am very glad to have the opportunity of advancing Cliff Langley," said Stephenson, "for he has been in the postal service of this office for a quarter of a century. His long and faithful service and his well known executive ability entitle him to the foremanship. His duties will include detailed inspection, adjustments and organization of routes with a view always to giving the best of carrier service to patrons of this office. I don't believe there is a better mail carrier anywhere than Langley."

"This gives the Santa Ana office a third appointive administrative office, to which its growth has entitled it. The others are the assistant postmaster, J. E. Alexander, and superintendent of mails, L. F. Harvey, both men of long experience and tried executive ability."

Joy Carried to Streets
He told the big crowd there were presents for all, advised the boys and girls to form lines, parade past the tables piled with toys and receive their gifts.

Thirty minutes after that, the downtown streets were literally alive with hundreds of children. The boys, bearing toys, the girls clutching dolls, were swarming through the business section, singing the praises of the jolly crew which had assisted Santa Claus in handing out Christmas cheer on behalf of the Elks lodge.

No. 5, Nothing selfish about that little boy."

"Why not—what does he say?" He says, 'Santa, dear, please give the children who have no mothers and fathers their share first!'"

Kris Kringle made a note on his cuff with a big chunk of charcoal. The postmaster noted that his beady little eyes beamed and beamed and beamed.

"That's the ticket," said Santa; "and what does he want?" "A ball and a bat, if that isn't too much," read the postmaster. "And if it is, a few marbles will do. He says, 'at school, the big children take the bat and ball, but if you give me these, Mr. Fitz will not let the big boys take them away!'"

Wants 'Mama' Doll
"Hm!" said Santa Claus. "Hm! What's that little letter you got there—with the picture on the envelope?"

"Nobody can read that—it's written in baby scrawl." "I can," said Santa. "Baby scrawl is my specialty. That child wants a doll that says 'Mama.' Now, what's that other one?"

The postmaster went through the batch—one at a time. This one wanted toys, candy and gum; that one wanted a scooter; another craved a pair of skates; two little girls demanded doll dishes; a real American boy wanted a gun that will shoot; little Dorothy, without pleading for herself, urged Santa to bring little brother a desk, so he could learn to write "like me." And so it went.

"Aha!" cried Santa, "here's a letter from a little girl who has a doll which has 'broken its nose,' and a 7-year-old wants a school dress, and a doll buggy; this little lady out on West Fifth street wants a bed for her doll, while another wants a pocket book. Well, there are quite a few of them, so I guess I'll have to take them along and read them tonight when I get caught up on a lot of my work in the shop. I'm making a lot of toys, you know."

Asks School Dresses

"So I understand," said the postmaster, "nice, new different ones, for good little boys and girls. But, by the way, don't go before sticking this letter in your pocket. It's from little Helen Jones. 'She—'"

"I know all about her," said Santa Claus. "She's the little girl who was so terribly burned and had to go to the big hospital out on Washington street so many times for skin operations. What does little Helen want—and does she still live at 412 North Forest avenue?"

"Yes, same place—and she wants her small brother to have a tiny red wagon."

"But Helen?"

"She says if you can spare it, bring her some school dresses and a doll."

Santa Won't Forget

"All right," said Santa, folding this letter carefully; "and maybe she ought to have a book or two and a pocketbook. I'll see—I'll see."

Here he puckered up his funny, weathered face, squinted at the postmaster, and chirped:

"Steve, I was pretty sore at you for opening my mail, but I guess it's all right. This is the season when everyone should forgive everybody. So I hold nothing against you. Now, I'm going up to the Elks club and get my reindeer. If you get any more mail for me, don't read it—but send it up there. They'll see that I get it. And if I don't see you again, be good till next Christmas, and maybe I'll bring YOU a present from tina-ling-land. Goo-bye!"

"Goo-bye, Santa—and don't forget the good little boys and girls."

"I won't," said Santa. "I never do!"

Barge Service Plan

company to give a barge service that would be dependable and satisfactory, Hodge said that the barge service would be instituted on a daily schedule as an experiment to determine whether the company can develop tonnage sufficient to justify its maintenance and operation of its truck line to meet the barge.

Stating that it would be necessary for the barge to have a capacity load each day to make the service profitable, Hodge said it is possible that merchants of the three counties of Orange, River-side and San Bernardino could be educated to the point of directing that their daily shipments be made on one boat, where the merchandise originates at the same point.

Tells Obstacle

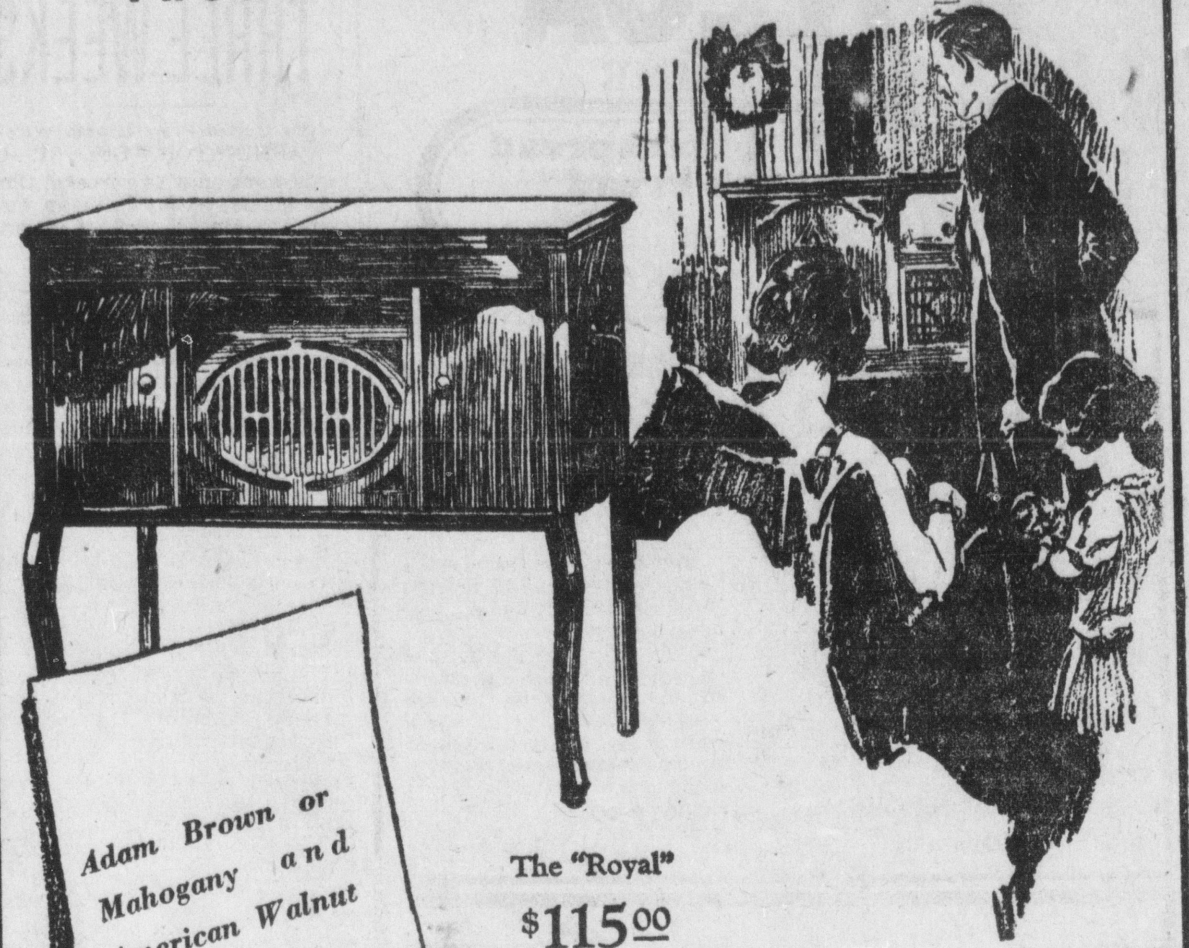

One of the greatest obstacles to maintenance of a service that would be satisfactory to the patrons and productive of profit to the company is the fact that shipments may come into Los Angeles harbor on different boats, Hodge said. Pointing out that the boats dock at different wharves in the harbor, Hodge said it might be necessary to operate several barges to pick up the shipments, in which event maintenance of the line would be costly.

"We want to give possible patrons of the three counties the very best service possible," said Hodge. "Whether we can do this will depend largely upon the co-operation we receive. We hope to be in position to deliver in Orange county merchandise the day following its arrival in Los Angeles harbor."

"When we institute our barge line, probably within the next six weeks, it will be largely in the nature of an experiment to determine whether sufficient freight is brought into the county by water route to justify the service."

The ideal spread for bread

LITTLE ACTION BY SOLONS IN THREE WEEKS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Congress went on a two weeks' Christmas holiday today with an empty record behind it and an uncertain future ahead.

One inconsequential bill has passed the senate. Not a single measure has passed the house in the first three weeks of the present session. Nearly three weeks after President Coolidge delivered his program to the congress here is the way the situation shapes up on his most important policies:

TAX REDUCTION:
The house ways and means committee is planning to begin hearings. Indications are the original Mellon plan will be greatly changed. The senate finance committee has not even set a date for hearings.

WORLD COURT:
The senate foreign relations committee has no plan to take up the proposal submitted by the late President Harding and endorsed by Mr. Coolidge.

FREIGHT RATES:
The senate interstate commerce committee is not yet even organized because of the fight over chairmanship.

Prospects are that the guarantee portions of the Esch-Cummins law will be amended but no other conclusive action taken.

Matter not even discussed in the house.

IMMIGRATION:
Not discussed yet either in house or senate; prospects are present quota law will be extended with amendments.

FARM RELIEF:
No direct measure contemplated. Several bills, most of which face much opposition already introduced.

BONUS:
House and senate leaders both active. Senator Smoot will produce a new bill in the senate in January with prospects that it may be substituted for old bill vetoed last year by Mr. Harding. Administration leaders have succeeded in holding up the bonus in the house.

PROHIBITION:
Several bills amending the Volstead act introduced, but prospects are they will be smothered.

SHIPPING:
Some bill to help American shipping will be introduced and pressed by Senator Jones, chairman of the commerce committee, early in January. The prospects for the future were expressed by Senator Smoot, chairman of the finance committee, who said "there will be little but politics this session from January to June—it's always that way in a presidential year."

Report Mexican Arms Smugglers Due Here

Shadows of an alleged plot to ship arms and ammunition across the border to Mexican rebel forces were cast on Santa Ana, according to police reports today, the report indicating that this city was one of the Southern California cities through which a truck laden with rifles, pistols and ammunition was scheduled to pass on its trip to the border.

Motorcycle police and patrolmen were notified of the expected visit of the alleged arms smugglers. No report of the truck having been seen passing through this city had been made up to a late hour today.

'VILLAGERS' PLAY FOR KFAW AUDIENCE

The Villagers broadcast a snappy program last night at KFAW, the Register radio phone from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock. The entertainment was made up of the latest hits in popular music. Miss Naomi McGilvray, piano; Walter Martin, violin; Howard White, saxophone, and Bud Hoyle, drums, were the musicians heard by the radio audience.

The following numbers were broadcast:

"That Old Gang of Mine," "Midnight Rose," "No, No, No," "Mister Gallagher and Shean," "Ten, Ten, Tennessee," "Somebody's Wrong," "Lady of the Evening," "Just an Old Love Song," "Foolish Child," "Havana," "Every Night I Cry Myself to Sleep Over You," "Alabama Black Sheep," "Sleep," and a medley of popular dance hits. Walter Martin's violin solo, "Roses of Picardy," was one of the outstanding features of the evening.

Storm Delays Vessel On Los Angeles Trip

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—The Panama-Pacific liner Kroonland, which was scheduled to arrive here yesterday, has been so delayed by heavy seas and northerly gales that she will not arrive until tomorrow night, according to a radiogram received here last night.

The Kroonland is bringing 435 passengers from New York and Havana. The passenger list includes Frederick O'Brien, author.

PASTOR'S HOME IS FIRED BY INCENDIARY

(By United Press Leased Wire)
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21.—Fire of incendiary origin late last night destroyed the garage and damaged the residence of Dr. Gustav Briegleb, staunch "blue law" advocate, at 429 North Serrano avenue, it was revealed today.

The blaze followed shortly after receipt by Dr. Briegleb of a notice ordering him to leave the city under penalty of being tarred and feathered.

The minister was gone from his residence for a short time last night, and during his absence neighbors discovered the garage ablaze, and the flames spreading to the house. The damage will amount to several hundred dollars, it was estimated.

Fire department officials announced the fire was of incendiary origin.

Dr. Briegleb has been one of the strongest advocates of "blue law" enforcement during the present fight over law enforcement now going on in Los Angeles.

CONVICT MAN, WIFE IN TRIANGLE DEATH

Mrs. Vetter screamed and collapsed when the foreman of the jury announced the verdict.

Her husband put his arms around her and attempted to console her.

ORDER VETERANS SURVEY
TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 21.—A complete survey of every disabled veteran in the state of New Jersey has been ordered by the American Legion in that state, that better care may be afforded these men. Under directions issued by Phillip Forman, department commander, the legion's hospitalization committee in the state will proceed immediately with the survey. Erection of additional hospitals in the state will be urged on Congress on completion of the survey, which is expected to show that a large number of veterans are not now receiving treatment.

TO DEDICATE NEW CAPITOL
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 21.—Missouri's new capitol building, reputed to be the most beautiful in America, has never been dedicated, though it has been in use since 1917. It is proposed to hold a formal dedication in the spring.

SHOPLIFTER SHOWN TO HAVE RECORD

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 21.—Pretty Mrs. Elsie Duffy, 38, of Hoboken, who was arraigned in the First Criminal court here for walking out of a local department store with one of its fur coats, and "lifted" silk stockings in her handbag, is said to be acquainted with police in three states and her fingerprints show six aliases, according to the police.

The police say she was arrested seven times in Manhattan and once in Philadelphia. She is said to have admitted that she moved to Jersey because a New York magistrate warned her she would be sent to prison for life if brought before him again.

She was known, according to the police, as Elsie Wallace, Elsie Bourdoun, Helen Wallace, Anna Sherwood, Marguerite Irvington and Eleanor Hoffman.

She said, the detective alleged, that she thought she would be safe in Newark because five years ago a woman store detective had introduced her to the police there.

The woman store detective has since turned shoplifter, she explained.

WOMAN DIES SAVING 8 GIRLS IN BLAZE

TORONTO, Dec. 21.—In a heroic effort to rescue eight girl guides and their captain, who were trapped on a railroad bridge, near Ottawa, Ontario, Mrs. Ellen Campbell, aged 44, secretary of the Hintonburg Y. W. C. A., lost her own life.

Mrs. Campbell, with an advance guard of the girl guides, had just crossed the narrow railroad bridge, a train appeared round a curve, from the opposite direction. Rushing back to the main party, Mrs. Campbell shouted instructions to them to throw themselves flat on their faces, on the narrow edge of the bridge, outside the rails.

The girls followed the instructions so thoroughly that all escaped intact, but Mrs. Campbell was swept from the bridge into the shallow water of the Rideau river, forty feet below. Her body was recovered a few hours afterward.

Mrs. Campbell's death is the fourth of a tragic nature in her family, her husband and one son having died while serving overseas, while a brother-in-law was killed in a factory accident.

DESPERATE WOOPER FOILED IN SYMPATHY

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Dan Susick of Wellington avenue was a lovely boy and his ma made lovely jelly and jam. Caroline Woore, beneficiary of Dan's adulation and his mother's gift-cookery, appreciated both.

But, alas, Dan had no auto, and Clyde Osterbe did.

So, while Caroline had promised she never would go out with any one else, and while she just doted on Dan and all that, she just couldn't help riding with Clyde to a dance garden.

Not for a moment did Caroline dream that seeds of tragedy sown by her act. She had reckoned without a realization of the desperate distance jam-fied Dan quarter long. Osterbe bared his path. Out of the shadows leaped a lithe figure.

"So this is way I'm being two-timed!" hissed a voice.

Gosh—double gosh! It was Dan! He leaped on the running board. A knife gleamed aloft for a moment and sank home.

But home was right around the corner for that knife. The terrible blade was almost an inch and a quarter long. Osterbe bared his arm in Sheffield avenue court and exhibited its work. It was one of the most awful scratches made by a dinky penknife near Belmont and Sheffield upon a gallant named Osterbe that Judge LaBuy ever had seen.

It almost bled, according to 'the police, who had cast aside all fear of death to capture Desperate Dan. Pending the outcome of the victim's wound the case was continued.

And which side is the 17-year-old heroine on? She's for the one who got pinched, of course. She vowed that she would never seek adventure again outside the witching influence of Mrs. Susick's cooking.

She's off that Apache stuff.

GIVES $100,000 BAIL

CONVICT ACQUIRES FORTUNE IN CELL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—How a convict acquired a fortune of more than $35,000 in a few days after being liberated from McNeil island federal penitentiary, yesterday proved of great concern to state and federal authorities, according to rumors in the federal building.

The man, who is said to have $35,000 to his credit when leaving the prison recently, is known as "Count" Sichosky, a confidence man.

San Quentin records show Sichosky served a term at McNeil prison and subsequently was confined in San Quentin, having been taken into custody on the Mexican border on charges of violating the immigration laws.

On his arrival at San Quentin it was discovered that Sichosky had on his person more than $35,000. From San Quentin, Sichosky was transferred to Folsom penitentiary.

How Sichosky obtained his fortune is the question that is baffling the authorities.

Paris Says Women May Stick Hands in Pocket

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Many women at Auteuil track the other day wore a new addition to their fur cloaks in the shape of a "beauty case," containing powder and powder-puff, fixed on the left sleeve, while on the right, attached to the material by two metal buttons, was a mirror.

When the biting wind at the track made their complexions, especially on the tip of the nose, too highly toned, mesdames did not have to take the necessary utensils out of a bag. The right hand extended before the eyes permitted them to give a dash of powder just where it was needed.

This little addition to the toilette is all the more welcome since muffs have practically gone out of existence. They are scarcely shown at all in the swell shops. They have gone like the umbrella, the long skirt—and the long hair.

Leather and rubber coats and hats have replaced the fur. Parisian women nowadays stick their hands in their coat pockets as they stroll along the boulevard when the breezes are chill.

CHILD'S PARENTAGE UPHOLD BY COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Erasing any legal doubt as to the parentage of Josephine Giannini, 2 years old, Superior Judge Graham upheld the assertion of Mrs. Andrew Giannini, 216 Elm street, that her husband is the girl's father. In making this decision Judge Graham removed possibilities of a blood test, threatened by Clay A. Pedrazzini, attorney for Giannini, to prove the father's charges that little Josephine is not his child.

One glance at the 87-year-old father and the girl served to convince Graham that Giannini's accusations were unfounded.

INTEREST TAKEN IN CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

Announcement of the pageant to be given at the First Methodist church Monday at 8 p. m., has aroused the interest of music lovers, according to a statement made today by the Rev. J. H. Hughes, assistant pastor of the church.

The musical numbers will feature the presentation of the pageant, "When the Star Shone," the assistant pastor pointed out. The production will be under the direction of Miss Holly Lash.

"Yearnings for a Deliverer," an organ selection, will be played by Mrs. W. B. Snow, and solos will be rendered by Mrs. Dorothy Mead Parker, Mrs. Cecil Willis and the Rev. Mr. Hughes. Nina June Robertson, as one of the children of Bethlehem, will sing a Christmas carol.

The shepherds' song, "Glory to God in the Highest," is a song of triumph, the assistant pastor said, adding that for the chorus of the Wise Men, "Where is He That is Born King of the Jews," is one of the best numbers on the program.

Choruses will sing "The Song of the Open Heart," "The Homeward Song," "The Prince of Peace" and the recessional, it was stated.

Dye said that the actual setting of the date depends on what night the auditorium of the high school can be secured.

The program that was planned for the meeting tonight will be given at the postponed rally. The awarding of Eagle Scout badges to a few Scouts of this county will form one of the principal features.

SCOUTS QUARTERLY RALLY POSTPONED

The quarterly rally of Orange county Boy Scouts, scheduled for tonight at the high school auditorium, was postponed until date in January, Roland E. Dye, scout executive for this county, said today, adding that the rally was deferred because of Christmas holiday activities that would make it impossible for many of the Scouts and others to attend the rally. January 25 has been set as a tentative date.

The program that was planned for the meeting tonight will be given at the postponed rally. The awarding of Eagle Scout badges to
a few Scouts of this county will form one of the principal features.

TEACHERS TO HEAR NOTED PROFESSORS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Prominent professors of the University of California and of the University of Southern California will discuss "legislative re-apportionment" at a joint meeting to be held today in conjunction with the California Teachers' institute.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Leland Stanford university, said before a meeting of educators yesterday, that three of the greatest obstructions to a university are the Philistines, who seek to have the faculty guarantee the opinions of the students; the Pharisees, who are engaged in the spread of a particular creedal propaganda; and the Charlatans, who pretend to knowledge that they do not possess.

ASK SERVICE MEN'S INSURANCE RENEWED

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Dec. 21.— Action brought by the national legislative committee of the American Legion may lead to reinstatement of government insurance by hundreds of disabled World war veterans. Legion officials declare. Protests have been made by a Legion post composed of disabled men in Saranac Lake hospitals, which is regarded as responsible for the Legion's effort to obtain a reversal of a veterans bureau ruling, by means of which many men have been denied insurance.

Prorating of compensation payments to the disabled to pay the insurance carried by the recipient when the compensation did not approximate the cost of the insurance has been refused by the veterans' bureau on the ground that it had no authority for such action.
If the Legion is successful in the effort to obtain the requested reversal, many insurance policies of disabled men will be considered in force for the amount of insurance which unpaid compensation, due and owing from the government would have purchased. The ruling would affect a larger number of cases which were allowed to lapse and which the government, later acknowledging its indebtedness for compensation, did not carry for the amount which this money would purchase.

STORY WRITTEN FOR CLASSWORK IS OUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Indicating that college training offers a good background for a literary career, another former student of the University of California has joined the ranks of the American novelists. "The Daughter of the Dawn," written by Mrs. M. R. Parsons when a special student in the class in the short-story writing at the university, has been published recently, and has also been printed in England. The story was written by Mrs. Parsons as a requirement in the course conducted by Professor B. H. Lehman, associate professor of English at the university.

The course is given annually and is open to students who have passed the preliminary test in actual story-writing. Lectures are given by Professor Lehman, who emphasizes the elements necessary to the successful writing of a story. The students are required to submit three stories in the course which are of acceptable grade and must have one of them published in a magazine during the semester or one which is regarded by the instructor as suitable for publication.

"College training in short-story writing has not produced authors like Charles Norris, Richard Walton Tully and Frank Norris in their entirety, but has helped develop their talents," says Professor Lehman. In giving the course Professor Lehman helps the student to write along the lines of their interest and develop their own possibilities.

A leaf from Christmas decorations is preserved in parts of rural England as a preventative of toothache.

MUSICIAN IN COURT IN ALIMONY FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—A lesson in bookkeeping was given Edgar Bayliss, Oakland organist and pianist, by Superior Judge Dudley Kinsell and instructions were given that the rules should be followed for two months, so that the court can determine whether $60 a month is too much alimony for Bayliss to pay his former wife, Mrs. Nina B. Bayliss, for support of their child. Each item of his daily expenditure must be noted in a little book, and the book must be brought into court at the end of two months.

Bayliss appeared before Judge Kinsell on a hearing to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failing to make his monthly alimony payments.

Mrs. Bayliss said her husband had made payments of only $10 a month. On the witness stand Bayliss admitted having an income of $67 a week, but asserted he could not give any more than he is paying at present. He admitted, however, that he is purchasing an automobile on time payments.
Judge Kinsell advised them to arrange their differences privately and avoid any further publicity, advising Mrs. Bayliss to be careful of her repeated contempt charges, lest she "kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

Santa Claus should be spelt Santa Klaus. The name is Dutch for St. Nicholas.

ILLINI GRID COACH SHUNS GOOD LOSERS

Bob Zuppke Wants Players to Leave Field Mad If On Defeated Side

BY BILLY EVANS.

"He's a good loser."

In the world of sport that remark refers to one who can smile in defeat.

Bob Zuppke, famous football coach at the University of Illinois, does not subscribe to that theory. "I don't want any good losers playing football for me," says Zuppke. "The fellow who smiles in defeat is pulling the bunk. No one is happy when they lose. It's the time for a darn good cry rather than a smile."

"I want players who fight hard but clean. Who don't know the meaning of the word quit. Players who can congratulate the victor with a determined jaw, as much as if to say, wait until we meet again."

"I like the players who go off the field fighting mad after a defeat, rather than the fellows who smile and then start a barber shop chord when they get under the showers."

Wants Silence.

"After a defeat I like nothing better than silence. It proves the sting of losing has gone home, that the players are thinking of the mistakes they made, vowing they will never make them again. Silence and determination makes for trouble for the next team they meet."

"Good sportsmanship is the basis of all athletics at Illinois. I have no use for the athlete who doesn't understand fair play, for sport is based on fair play and honesty. I want my players to fight hard but clean. Football isn't a game for mollycoddles. It is a sport for the fellows who do and dare."

No Such Animal.

"I like to have it said that the Illinois team showed real sportsmanship in defeat. That's O. K. But I do object to that much abused expression, 'a good loser.' There is no such animal."

"The fellow who loses and then smiles about it, is simply basking himself. Don't misunderstand me, I don't favor the crab or alibi player. I want the fighter, the man who never quits, the fellow who in defeat can say, wait until the next time."

Take it from me, when Bob Zuppke speaks, he says something.

PREP TEAMS CLASH AT S. F. TOMORROW

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—The oil drillers from Bakersfield with the Southern California Intermediate football championship in hand and the ambition to beat Lick-Wilmerding high of San Francisco for the state crown, arrived here today.

Tomorrow afternoon at Ewing Field, the two teams will decide which is the best intermediate school team of all the pigskin realm of California.

Twenty-four players, Coaches Griffith and Crammer brought with them were being put through a blackboard practice at their hotel this morning, with signal practice at Ewing Field scheduled for this afternoon.

A short tour of the city will be sandwiched in between the morning and afternoon workouts. Lick-Wilmerding was following a similar schedule, minus the city tour. Both teams look exceptionally fit.

Fights and Fighters

NEW YORK—Tex Rickard will make another effort today to have Mike McTigue and his manager, Joe Jacobs, bury the club so that McTigue will accept terms for a fight with Gene Tunney or Georges Carpentier.

NEW YORK—Ad Stone, Philadelphia light heavyweight, regarded as the coming heavy-weight champion, will meet Billy Shade, California, in a twelve round bout tonight in Madison Square Garden.

NEW YORK—"I will never box again in New York and New Jersey," Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, declared before leaving for Canada. He is bitter against the New Jersey officials for warring on him because he boxed at a church benefit.

NEW YORK—Italian Joe Gans, New York middleweight, and Phil Krug, Newark, went twelve rounds to a draw.

LOWELL, Mass.—Lew Paluso, Lynn featherweight, won a ten round decision from Joe Fox, former British champion.

BLUE ISLAND, Ill.—Joe Burman, Chicago featherweight, and Johnny McCoy, Cleveland, box ten rounds here tonight.

Jack Britton, the former welterweight champion, is booked to exchange punches with Phil K. O. Kaplan at the Pioneer Sporting club show in New York on December 18.

The Pacific Coast Jockey club is apparently well satisfied with the success of its inaugural meeting and is already planning for a spring meeting at the Tanforan track.

Williams Estimates $5000 Spent in War To Be Coast Prexy

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—

"I estimate that war cost my side $5,000," Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast league, speaking of the recent war with William McCarthy over the presidency, said here today.

Williams expressed himself as being very well pleased with the cordial treatment he received from San Francisco newspapers while he was there.

Williams refused to discuss the Coast league umpire situation, but it was reported that three of the last year's umpire staff will be released. It is understood that Williams will offer contracts to Umpires Joe Becker, Ted McGraw, "Beans" Reardon, Ed Finney and Pearle Casey.

N. Y. STILL THINKS HORNSBY IS GIANT

Club Official Denies Card Star Coming to Gotham But Rumors Continue

BY HENRY FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—"Five to one Hornsby doesn't play with the Giants next year. Odds also that he plays in St. Louis."

James J. Tierney, secretary of the Giants, hurried "this stopper" to the report that John McGraw, manager of the National League champions, on his return from Europe today would announce that he had fixed up the deal for Hornsby before he went on his vacation.

"The Giants have no room for Hornsby. We have the greatest second baseman in the league; the best third baseman and the coming great shortstop. We don't need Hornsby," Tierney said.

Tierney didn't go into the need of the Giants for a gate attraction to compete with the world's championship pennant and the great Babe Ruth that the Yanks will be sporting across the river next year.

Despite insistence of Giant officials that the Hornsby deal is cold, New York has accepted the "show me" attitude and will not believe that the St. Louis star is not a Giant until he starts working in another uniform next spring.

Even if the deal with St. Louis has been called off, another trade may be pulled that will bring Hornsby here from another club. The Giants have to do something to meet the Red menace that will begin next year. Nobody expects the Giant leader to try for another pennant with what he has now.

BOY WHO LEARNED TO RIDE ON IDAHO FARM NOW RATED AS GREATEST JOCKEY ON TURF

RODE TO WINNERS IN TWO DAYS AT LATONIA

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 21.—This is a tale of a sixteen-year-old Idaho lad—Ivan Parke—who, on December 31, will be crowned leading rider of the American turf for 1923, and whose earnings, "tips" included, may equal the salary paid Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States.

Parke's rise to fame and fortune from obscurity began last March at far-off Tia Juana, Mex., where, fresh from an Idaho ranch, he was given a chance by S. L. Jenkins to become America's leading race rider.

Parke, the sixteen-year-old lad, now the talk of the turf, in the opinion of conservative horsemen has not reached the peak of his career. Reason: In the first six days of racing at Jefferson Park the lad, riding in 33 races, turned in 18 winners, four seconds, three thirds and unplaced eight times.

His greatest achievement, five consecutive winners, occurred on December 5. Riding five in a row, however, is not extraordinary with Parke. He rode 10 consecutive winners at Latonia prior to coming here.

The lad, under contract to Harry Payne Whitney, New York millionaire turfman and breeder, goes East in the spring to serve under the tutelage of "Jimmy" Rowe, called the "master mind of the American thoroughbred."

Whitney's acquisition of a lifetime contract on Parke so far as his riding is concerned, now ancient history, cost $15,000, Jenkins selling the lad to Whitney through Mose Goldblatt, the Cincinnati turfman, with whom he has been since the transfer.

Parke, a native of Delco, Idaho, tells his story in a modest way. There is none of the frills that usually come from a star rider. Instead, he shies off when eager turf enthusiasts solicit the news as to how he became a rider.

Here is the way the lad tells it: "Where I come from—out among the ranches—every kid must know something about a horse. I just happened to be near one at Delco and got my early knowledge of riding by following cowboys on a roundup; jumping into a saddle whenever and wherever any of the men would help me."

"I must have looked natural there. Mr. Jenkins, who with Stuart Polk makes it a business of rounding up boys who can ride, took a liking to me and induced my parents to sign a contract with him. I was then started to Tia Juana and last March steered the first winner of a race home in front."

"All good riders come from my section of the country. Look at Sande and the Pator brothers. They are from Wyoming and learned to ride just as I did—following the cowboys."

"My weight, 86 pounds, isn't bothering me. I hope to keep below 115 for some years to come. My parents get the biggest part of my earnings and they are going to keep on getting it. My folks now have their own home. Some day I hope to buy them a ranch. There is comfort at Delco, and just think—me—a kid, has provided it!"

Parke has been home but once since starting his career as a jockey—a forced vacation. Suspended by the stewards at the Churchill Downs fall meeting because of rough riding, the lad thus had an opportunity to visit his parents prior to arriving here a few days before Thanksgiving day.

The cry hereabouts is: "Throw away the dope hook and have a ticket on Parke!"

To the Trade

In order that our employees may enjoy a real Yuletide Holiday, the office, yard and mill of this company will be closed from Saturday noon until Wednesday morning. No business will be transacted on Monday, the day before Christmas.

January and February are unusually tremendous building months, with our yard and mill running beyond capacity. If you are planning building of any kind immediately after the first of the year it would not be unwise to begin at once the inspection of plans and the figuring of material. A little breathing space in the building game at this interval gives the material man a little more time to attend to your individual wants.

The modern home is incomplete without built-in features. If you are considering a home for the early part of 1924 we would be pleased, also, to show you designs and built-up models of buffets, bookcases, desks, linen chests, breakfast nooks and similar money-saving pieces.

OPPORTUNITIES PRESENTED BY 'Y' RELATED

"Men in all vocations are well come to and are taking advantage of opportunities offered by the Y. M. C. A. to better themselves and through their own betterment uplift the trade or vocation that they have chosen as their life's work," said R. C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana organization, today.

Illustrating the broad field covered by the organization, he told of the work accomplished recently by members of the Younger Men's Division at the International Transportation Conference of the Y. M. C. A. in St. Louis.

The outstanding thought according to Smedley, that was impressed on every man attending this conference was to do his best to create and maintain a high standard of Christian character in whatever situation he might find himself. Each member pledged himself to carry out this thought.

This Younger Men's division is composed of youths in railroad employment. According to Smedley, they gave many hours at the conference to discussing their problems and presented findings at the end of the session which declared that the fundamental need in transportation today is "men of real Christian character."

The findings endorsed the American Railway Employed Boys' association and Hi-Y clubs and recommended that the North American Young Men's Christian association establish more clubs of this type among young men employed by the railroads. It was also urged that special emphasis be placed upon the "find yourself" plan of vocational guidance.

Recognizing that the conference, for the first time, had a definite program for the younger railroad men, that body in a resolution commended this new field of endeavor and urged its continuation and extension.

DIVIDED TIME WITH WIVES, HE ADMITS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Edward F. Horstman visited wife No. 1; on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, he visited wife No. 2; on Sundays he rested, according to his testimony before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath.

Mrs. Edith May Horstman was granted a divorce after her husband admitted his dual life. She was wife No. 2 and she told of discovering, via a telephone book, the existence of a rival marital partner.

Horstman, a well-known cattle dealer, who lives at the Stockyards Inn hotel, agreed to pay his second wife $2,000 lump alimony.

Freed On Charge
The Horstman case attained publicity a month ago when he was arrested for bigamy and then discharged by Judge Joseph Burke in the Englewood Court because both wives refused to prosecute.

Horstman married his second wife last April 28. She left him November 5 when she discovered she had a predecessor.

"I looked in the telephone book and found my husband's name listed with the address as 3901 Ellis avenue," she testified. "I called up the number and talked with his first wife."

Horstman took the stand and admitted he had two wives.

Needed a Change
"I was married thirty years the first time," he told Judge Sabath. "Then, last April, I thought I needed a change. I lived with one wife part of the time, the rest with the other."

"Three days with one and three days with the other, I suppose," interjected the judge.

"That was it," said Horstman. "And on the seventh day I rested."

ADOPTED DAUGHTER IS DENIED ANNUITY

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Olga Ralph, the pretty music student of Evanston, Ill., who alleged that she changed her name to Kirby to become the "daughter" of John H. Kirby, the millionaire Texas lumber king, and travel through Europe as his constant companion and secretary, has lost her suit to obtain from him an annuity of $5,000 for life.

Supreme Court Justice Cook ruled Miss Ralph had not proved her allegation that, in view of the above services, Kirby had promised to take care of her for life.

Her complaint set forth that in 1922, at Kirby's request, she resumed her present name and returned to him documents for which he had agreed to pay $6,000 immediately and $500 monthly for life.

Practical Notes On S. S. Lesson

Lesson for Dec. 23, Isa. 11:1-10; Ps. 2:8. The Universal Reign of Christ.

"There shall come forth a shoot out of the stock of Jesse, and a branch out of his roots shall bear fruit."—v. 1. The bearer of good tidings, the herald of better things, is a benefactor. Such a man was Isaiah. When he lived there was no Prince of Peace. War was the rule, peace the exception the wide world over.

Moral darkness covered the land. Light from God shone only in "the Land of Promise"—approximately the Palestine of today—and but dimly there, Egypt on the one side, and Babylon on the other side—the two great nations of Isaiah's day—were reeking with moral rotteness. It was a poor time to predict anything better. The whole earth was as devoid of righteousness as was Isaiah's land of succulent vegetation at the end of the long rainless summer. But Isaiah knew.

Though the blossom of the lily had withered and perished from the sight of men, and the leaves had died, dried up and been blown away, the lily still lived in the parched earth. God would water it with the abundant rains of the winter, and cause it to spring up and blossom again. Isaiah had seen this repeated every year of his life.

Foresees Future.
God's cycles when dealing with men were much longer and less regular than when showing his presence and power in nature and the changing seasons. But his hand was guiding none the less in the affairs of men. If the earth was parched and barren and desolate under the scorching heat of evil, so that the flowers and fruits of righteousness could not be found, there was a time coming when it would be more productive than it ever had been. Isaiah knew this, and so declared, "There shall come forth a shoot out of the stock of Jesse, and a branch out of his roots shall bear fruit."

What Isaiah saw was a long distance in the future. It was a long, long time coming, just as he knew it would be. He would be dead many centuries before this era of better things could be ushered in. He could derive no benefit. Then why not remain silent? Well, for the reason that he couldn't be still. He was an optimist—and more. He was a lover of men—of generations that would clasp hands down the ages to come.

What the world needs today is that "Glory Song" in mighty chorus. Sing it! Sing it by the fireside and the desolate hearth; sing it throughout America, over chaotic Europe, in the jungles of Africa, in the populous nations of India, China and Japan, wait it to the islands of the sea, and let Isaiah strike the first note!

Optimism Needed.
Today where the kingdom of Christ, that Isaiah foresaw, has been established there in peace and plenty, happiness and hope, health of body, mind and soul. What if all the kingdoms of this world—political, commercial, social, and all others—were the kingdoms of our Lord and his Christ! As John said they sometime would be. How glorious that would be! Are we doing our part to bring in the universal reign of our Lord and his Christ?—the "Shoot out of the stock of Jesse."

"It shall come to pass."—v. 10.

This is an opportune time for us to catch the inspiration of Isaiah's prophecy, as we have it in today's lesson. Much that he foretold has already come to pass. So much indeed that we, too, may turn prophet, and with much more to encourage us than either he or our fathers had.

Since father and mother told us it would be, that better time than they ever knew has come to us. Dispassionately compare the "then" and the "now," and you will see it for yourself. If some of the desirable things that they had been lost to us, we have gained infinitely more. That "better time" has come to us most wonderfully. Yes, we are entitled to the privilege of being prophets—true prophets. We may say to our children and to our children's children, "It shall come to pass" that your day is to be as much better than ours, as ours was better than that of our fathers and mothers, who lived in a day far superior to that of Isaiah.

It is easy to be an optimist now—at Christmas time—in America. Or any place in the world, for that matter, as compared with Isaiah's day and environment. If you are not an optimist, there is something radically wrong with you. Stretch yourself! Take a long look at the past. Survey the present. Behold the future—the wonderful, wonderful future!

Democratic Presidency Candidate Leader Among Orators In United States Senate

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 21.—Talk with Oscar W. Underwood, or listen to one of his speeches on the floor of the Senate, and you get an impression of an able, powerful nature—logical and, above all, endowed with a large share of common sense.

Southern in all of his antecedents—educational, political and economical—the senator from Alabama, now that he has thrown his hat in the 1924 arena, represents the hope of the "Solid South"

As a United States senator, Underwood has many friends but few pals. His closest companions are his wife, who drives him to and from his office in the United States capitol each day, and his German police dog, Otto von Edelweiss. Otto is the senator's playfellow at home and companion on walking expeditions. These constitute Underwood's chief exercise.

Likes Plain Food
Underwood is as democratic in his mode of living as he is in his politics. He is unostentatious, wears business suits, and frequently bow ties. He likes fried apples, fried ham and fried mush and is considerable of a dog fancier.

Rarely, if ever, does Underwood make a set speech. All his talks are extemporaneous, yet when he rises on the floor of the Senate, his colleagues and the press galleries come to prompt attention. Here is where his "possession of cold logic is demonstrated."

Oratorically others may be his superior, but his arguments are indisputable; time and again he has battered down the flowery speeches of others by the sheer force of his reasoning. He has the faculty of marshaling his facts and making them march in ordered array.

In his senatorial routine, Underwood is most methodical. All the mail and business reaching his office each day is cleared up that day. No questions are left hanging over. This habit of maintaining a clean desk leaves him additional time for reading and study. He prefers the quiet life to that of the political "mixer."

Few men in public have so even a temper, so little of temperament. He never gets ruffled or flurried, never exhibits pique or anger, never in even the bitterest debates raises his voice above the slow, suave, rather nasal drawl in which he speaks. He may be sarcastic, even cuttingly caustic in debate, but his words will come in the same slow, calmly emotionless voice in which he would present a statistical summary.

And for statistics, especially financial figures, the Birmingham senator has quite a predilection. He is equally fond of newspapers. His daily regimen calls for an early and leisurely breakfast, and during the meal he carefully reads and studies the news of the day.

Underwood has given his name to a great tariff measure, which has lived and will be remembered. He did this in the House of Representatives, and it made him the famous leader of the Democratic party on the floor. As majority leader during the first Wilson administration, he was chairman of the Ways and Means committee, which drafts the revenue bills.

When he became senator, he was placed on the Senate Appropriations committee. As he put it: "When I came to the Senate I

Legal Training.

Underwood is a lawyer by profession. For many years, however, he has been identified with the Woodward, among the most successful independent coal and iron producers of the south, and one of the Woodward girls became Mrs. Underwood.

He was born in Louisville, Ky., in 1862 and was educated there, completing his law course in the University of Virginia. He practiced law in Birmingham at the start of his career, his partner at one time being Judge E. K. Campbell, now chief justice of the court of claims at Washington.

Underwood early took an active part in Alabama politics and served as chairman of the Democratic executive committee of the ninth district of the state as his first public office. He was later chairman of the campaign committee which adopted the present constitution of the state. He was a member of the 54th and 63rd congresses and was elevated to the Senate in 1915.

No matter how far his bid for the Democratic nomination gets, Underwood at least is assured the support of his home state. For a recent law enacted in Alabama requires that anyone filing with that state legislature a petition for presidential nomination, must be a native of Alabama. And if the state approves his candidacy, he will choose the state's delegates to the national convention.

Two Children
His two children, John Lewis Underwood, 35, and Oscar W. Jr., 33, are both married. The former married the daughter of Judge Campbell, Senator Underwood's former law partner; the latter Miss Ellen Pratt of Prattville, Ala. His only grandchild, the daughter of John Lewis, died when she was 8.

Senator Underwood has been married twice, his first wife being Miss Eugenia Massie of Charlottesville, Va. She died in 1900. In 1904 he married Miss Bertha Woodward of Birmingham.

The Alabamian is a casual golfer, taking this game in the same dispassionate manner he takes most pleasures. In summers and between sessions he likes to slip away to Underwood Cabin, in the wilds of the Blue Ridge, near Tate Springs, Tenn. There he hunts, fishes and communes with nature.

His Birmingham home is plain and simple. According to William, major domo for the Underwoods, there's "nobody" any finer than "Mistah Senator."

GIRL IS JAILED SO PRIDE MAY BE KEPT

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—A gray stretch of years behind prison bars—beyond, a future shadowed and hopeless—the stigma of thief and ex-convict to darken the balance of life—

Would you endure all these out of deference for a stern, ancient family pride—family pride which forbids asking help from an aged parent in a dilemma or giving your word where you are sure you cannot keep it?

Would you choose so to endure, furthermore, if you were a girl, young and comely, born to luxury and bred in refinement—with the best of life still before you?

In Chicago the descendant of a framer of the Constitution, daughter of pioneer stock, scion of one of America's oldest and proudest families, has elected to go to prison for larceny because, as she told the court, she could not shatter her father's pride and her own by revealing to him her predicament in an appeal for aid and, in the second place, because she knew that any promise she might make never to steal again, in return for her liberty, would, sooner or later, be broken.

She will go to prison rather than shatter the pride of an old man who holds his snowy head high in the consciousness of generations of aristocracy of which he is the product.

She will face the gray years uncomplainingly to preserve his faith in a daughter whose wanderings for ten years have been explained to him as "a successful career in commercial designing."

The girl is Miss Ada Whittredge Ellsworth, great-granddaughter of Oliver Ellsworth, who helped to build the nation's constitution, served as third chief justice of the United States and was first minister plenipotentiary to France.

She is in the Cook county jail awaiting a trial for forgery, washing dishes with Sabella Nitti Crudele, and calmly insisting that she wants to pay full penalty for the error of her ways.

Charges against her involve thirty-one checks drawn on the Reliance State Bank of Chicago against the name of a woman who befriended her.

No word of her plight has reached her father, down in Lafayette, Ind. He does not even know that Ada's sister, who for years has been a partner to the merciful conspiracy, has sacrificed her meager allowance time after time to straighten out her sister's debts.

He does not know an Ellsworth is languishing in jail—a thief. If the first sacrifice in a life of willful, careless ease and gaiety can save him from it, the anguish of the knowledge will never be his.

Her relatives, who have kept it from him thus far, have washed their hands of the "black sheep" who brought them such disgrace, and Miss Ellsworth is inclined to get their point of view.

"I am a weakling," she said, looking about her at the waifs who share with her the women's quarters of the county jail.

"I'm worthless, and I always will be. Even this disgrace doesn't hurt me the way it should hurt an Ellsworth. I haven't any pride or any ambition.

"And I meant it when I told Judge Steffen I wanted to go to prison. What's the use of saying I'll be good if he gives me a chance? I know I won't."

"I could promise to work and pay back the money, but I know that, once I got out of jail, I'd go away to cheat again some way. Maybe a year in jail would straighten me out."

Southern California

EAGLE ROCK.—The Los Angeles fire department has taken out a building permit for a $10,000 addition to the city hall. The building will be 24 by 51½ feet, of brick, with concrete floors and tile roofs. It will be added to the northeast corner of the present building and will make room for the full fire company, detailed for this city's protection. A hose tower is included in the plans.

PASADENA.—Pasadena is one of four California cities under consideration as the possible site for bungalow homes and a hotel for retired Presbyterian ministers, according to James Marwick of Santa Barbara, a prominent layman of the Presbyterian denomination. The project will require three to five acres and will cost half a million dollars, said Marwick, who is chairman of the committee authorized by the California synod to take charge of the enterprises.

UPLANDS.—"Upland Manufacturing company" is the name of the stock company organized by members of the Upland Business Men's association and the Upland chamber of commerce for the purpose of buying and operating the Upland iron foundry. Directors appointed for the new company are: V. H. Wilson; A. M. Fielding, W. S. Avery and G. A. Hanson.

SAN BERNARDINO.—Sufficient oil to cover the drill and other tools was struck at Del Rosa, north of San Bernardino, in a "wildcat" well. The drilling was shut down and preparations were started to cement the well. According to owners, they cannot determine whether the oil is in commercial quantities.

Several weeks ago gas was encountered. The drill was down 585 feet when it encountered oil sand, and after going eighteen feet the oil appeared. The well is close to the San Andreas fault. The site of the well is about five miles north of the city.

COLTON.—The contract for the paving of North Ninth street has been let to Hall-Johnson company of Los Angeles by the city council. The Hall-Johnson company was found to be the lowest bidder turning in a figure of $48,726.61 for the laying of a five-inch concrete paving with a three-eighth inch oil top.

ONTARIO.—To protect this city, if possible, from such fire loss as occurred at Redlands, when a packing house valued at $100,000 burned, the city council voted to authorize Otto S. Roen, manager of the city service department, and the fire committee of the council to enter into negotiations with the American La France company for the purchase of a modern truck to cost between $12,500 and $13,000, depending upon the equipment decided upon.

RIVERSIDE.—Poultrymen from Riverside and outlying districts, will gather in Riverside next Monday night and make definite plans for the campaign which will be put on here against poultry thieves.

BAKERSFIELD.—Asserting that for several months their actions had met with anything but hearty co-operation from the city council, members of the city planning commission tendered their resignation to the council, effective immediately. The resignations were accepted.

EL CENTRO.—Date growers of Imperial valley have been given a Christmas present by D. R. Crawford, extensive valley land owner, who has donated forty acres of land and $10,000 in cash to establish a date experiment station. The grant was made after date growers had tried for a year or more to induce the county supervisors to provide a site for a station and money to equip it.

WHITTIER.—The Murphy Oil company is planning extensive developments at the East Whittier ranch. Contractor Everett M. Hinchaw has been awarded the contract for building twelve bungalows of five rooms each for foremen, ten smaller houses for the tractor men and thirty still smaller accommodations for the use of orange and lemon pickers. Work will begin immediately on the first group.

POMONA.—Pomona city council has denied a permit to Dr. C. E. Smith to erect a $16,000 automobile display room at the southwest corner of Holt and Towne avenues in the heart of the extrajurisdictional district, after a lengthy discussion in which nearly by property owners registered vehement protests against the disfiguring of Holt avenue by a garage.

VENICE.—The institution formerly known as the Casa Del Mar hospital on Venice boulevard will be converted into a health institute, according to Dr. George S. Weger. The institution comprises modern cottages and is two miles from the ocean and thirty minutes ride from Los Angeles.

Father Couldn't Tell Which Triplet Was Hurt

STEVENS POINT, Wis., Dec. 19.—Leland Newby, eight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Newby, of Plover, and one of triplets, was critically injured by an automobile driven by Bailey Cambells, of Ohio, who, it is claimed, was crowded off the highway by a truck.

So closely do the triplets resemble each other that their father, when he saw the victim, was unable to say which one had been injured.

Slow About Thanking Man Who Helped Him

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 19.—Chief of Police Tillard received a post card from a man who signed only his initials, "A. W.", in which he requested an expression of his appreciation be given to Daniel Anders, at one time a patrolman here.

The writer stated that twenty-five years ago he was in Altoona looking for work and Anders took him to his home, gave him a bed and breakfast, and wished him success.

"Today I am well off," he wrote Anders now is living at Parker Ind., and the card was forwarded to him.

California's Favorite Son Not Too Busy To Spend Much Time With His Family

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—A big easy chair, a comfortable smoking jacket, plenty of cigars and a good book.

These are the ingredients of an ideal evening in the life of Hiram Johnson.

For the former governor of California, present United States senator, fiery opponent of the League of Nations and right now "progressive" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, he is essentially a "home" man. He loves his books. He enjoys his neighborly calls from friends. But a social life bores him.

Plays Dominoes
Mrs. Johnson nearly always accompanies him when he travels. Together, they create a homey atmosphere in any hotel, or aboard any sleeping car.

The senator likes nothing better than a good game of dominoes. He can spend a whole evening completely absorbed in its intricacies. Always, he carries a pocket set with him.

The movies run a close second in his affections. He knows a lot of the stars personally, their histories and their past careers. His predictions of success for embryonic celebrities, when little past the "extra" stage, have been unusually adept.

And baseball! Well, "Hi" used to be quite a sandlot pitcher in his youth. So he still retains his old love for America's national pastime. He takes in a game whenever he gets a chance.

Doesn't Golf
Johnson likes swimming, too. Fact is, it's in the tank he gets most of his physical recreation.

Hunting also brings him keen enjoyment. And he is no mean shot, either.

But golf! Never! That's one "bad habit" the senator hasn't acquired.

He is a fairly early riser—the exact hour depending upon the amount of rest he feels in need of to keep him fit for a strenuous day—and a late work.

With a lack of regard for money amounting almost to contempt, he has not sought ostentation either in home or position.

Backyard Retreat
Immediately following the earthquake of 1906, he purchased a stately residence overlooking San Francisco Bay. From it, there is an excellent view, not only of the bay, but also of the jagged hills beyond.

That house still is Johnson's.

Gets Out of Jail
Thrown in Another

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Fate toyed with Joseph Ryan, a longshoreman. It gave him liberty from one prison sentence only to put him back in prison for violation of parole.

In March, 1922, while on parole, Ryan was convicted of holding up a drug store in Eighth avenue and sentenced to serve twenty-five years as a second offender.

His wife found witnesses who saw the real robbers escape in a taxicab, while Ryan on the sidewalk was trying to stand by leaning against a lamppost.

Ryan was acquitted of the robbery, but as he left General Sessions Court he was arrested by Sing Sing officers.

Johnson, like virtually all other campaigners, delivered practically the same speech in each of the towns he visited.

Revenge is Sweet
One night, after a particularly strenuous week, Hart attempted to snatch a few winks of sleep, as they drove along in their buggy. But Johnson persisted in disturbing him.

Hart plotted his revenge. At their next meeting, he prevailed upon the chairman to call upon him for the first speech.

He arose, strode to the front of the platform and delivered, word for word, Johnson's speech. Hart had memorized it from hearing it so frequently. It was a good joke, he thought.

In the best of humor, Attorney Johnson got up, explained the trick and then launched into an extemporaneous talk. It went over with a bang.

The senator's conversation, whether in public or in private, is direct, unequivocal and incisive, with a magnetism that can only nominate him the leader of the group he happens to be in.

And through it all is an extreme courtesy and regard for the feelings of others.

A Good Joke
The senator possesses a highly developed sense of humor. He isn't above playing a harmless prank on some friend. Nor is he angered if he is the victim.

As a young attorney, Johnson took the stump in behalf of the senatorial candidacy of his father. His traveling companion was E. C. Hart, now presiding justice of the third district appellate court of California.

Recited for Grant
"Hi" Johnson is democratic. Never for a moment has he forgotten his intimates of earlier years.

The customary early prediction of future greatness, accompanying all presidential candidates in boyhood, came, in Johnson's case, from Mrs. N. E. White. She was Hiram's teacher in the Mary J. Watson school in Sacramento.

General Ulysses S. Grant, not yet president, was visiting Hiram's classroom. Mrs. Watson called on young Johnson for a recitation. And "Sheridan's Ride" was the one he gave.

Grant was vividly pleased by Hiram's fire, earnestness and enthusiasm. He publicly commended him.

"Some day he will walk in your shoes, general," prophesied Mrs. White.

And who knows but what that prophecy will be fulfilled?

Naturally the best insight into Johnson's boyhood can be gained from his father, Hon. Grove L. Johnson, who, at 83, still is active in California politics.

"You can't make a hero out of Hiram as a boy," he declares. "But I think the greatest compliment that can be paid him is that he was good and clean. He never gave his parents any trouble. But he was a regular boy, for all of that."

Following the callopie always was strangely fascinating to the boy Hiram. And even today, he still "gets a kick" out of a circus parade.

State Chiropractic Board Awarded Funds
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—The board of osteopath examiners, the chiropractic board and a number of other so-called self-supporting agencies of the state, are to have more funds than the budget allowed them, according to a ruling made recently by Attorney General U. S. Webb.

The budget allowed the osteopathic board $12,360 for the two years of the present period, while the income of the board from fees paid by those applying for licenses to practice are estimated at $18,000 for the same period.

On request from Ray L. Riley on the question of the board's right to all the funds it collects, Webb gave it as his opinion that the board was entitled to all its funds, regardless of what the budget said, and this ruling will govern the controller until overruled by court authority.

A similar ruling was made for the chiropractic board, allowed $6,200 in the budget, but whose estimated income from fees for the two years will be $10,000.

Since then several other self-supporting boards have applied for and received similar rulings, all of them upsetting the theory of the governor and the board of control on the legal limitation of these funds made possible by the budget act.

WILLIAM DUNCAN in "THE STEEL TRAIL"

AGED MOONSHINER IN JAIL
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 19.—Samuel Henderson, 81, has arrived here under a two-year sentence from Fulton for operating a still. He is the oldest man in the prison.

"ST. ELMO" OPENS AT YOST TONIGHT
In tense bitterness, he held the saddened girl before him and the miniature oriental temple where he kept his private papers. In jerky, crisp voice he beseeched her to confess—before he turned the key that would unlock the door. She shook her head, shrinking from the abysmal blackness of his distrust.

Then the explosion that burnt away his consuming unbelief, that purified his soul and forced the realization that in one maiden's heart at least there burned the altar of true love. He released her, trembling at his dastardly condemnation of her who shamed him by the steadfastness of her faith. With a groan, he tottered onto the couch and in the silence, the girl slipped away, dry sobs shaking her as she realized in spite of his unjust suspicion she loved him.

What happens then leads to the gripping action that crescendoes into the powerful romantic climax of the screen version of "St. Elmo," which is coming to the Yost theater tonight.

John Gilbert, in the title role, has a part eminently suited to his cavalier personality. Supporting the star is Barbara La Marr, Bessie Love, Warner Baxter, Nigel De Bruin and Lydia Knott. Jerome Storm directed, and Jules Furthman wrote the scenario.

"LITTLE OLD NEW YORK" AT TEMPLE TONIGHT
Ye Oldtime Dancers may have been all the poetry and grace of motion as compared with our jerky modern jazz steps, but it certainly is hard to swing into them after the lapse of a hundred years!

If you don't believe it ask some of the comely young women who took part in the big colonial ball room scene of "Little Old New York," the picture starring Marion Davies which opens at the Temple theater tonight.

Attired in their charming old-fashioned dresses, right merrily did they dip and curtsy in the dance called Roger de Coverly. And next day when the cameras were not grinding all of them were gingerly rubbing stiff knees and trying their best not to walk with a limp. The truth was that "ye oldtime dance" brings into play muscles which are seldom used as the modern fox trots do not include low curtsies to one's partner.

The dance did not trouble Marion Davies, star of the production, as she is used to taking daily setting up exercises which include all sorts of twistings and bendings and which keep her as fit as any athlete. The ball room scene with its stately setting was indeed a picture. From the great crystal chandeliers to the scarlet coated musicians in the gilded balcony it was an exact reproduction of the ball room of a century ago as found in the homes of most exclusive old aristocratic families in New York, Philadelphia or Boston.

"CROOKED ALLEY" OPENS AT PRINCESS
"Crooked Alley," originally titled "The Daughter of Crooked Alley," adapted from Jack Boyle's story showing at the Princess theater, portrays the life of picturesque characters of San Francisco's underworld. That is quite sufficient reason for expecting something entertaining, for Frank Norris, Jack London and other writers besides Boyle made great successes of writing what they saw on the Barbary Coast and South of the Slot.

San Francisco's underworld is like that of no other city, because San Francisco's population is and always has been composed of all the nationalities which drifted in from the corners of the earth.

TOM MIX PICTURE AT WEST END TONIGHT
Tom Mix, beloved king of the saddle, and "Tony," his wonder horse, are coming to the West End theater tonight in the screen version of "The Lone Star Ranger," the popular narrative from the pen of Zane Grey.

It is the story of the life of the daring Texas Rangers who went out "to get their man" despite hazard and obstacle. It is such a stirring hard-riding part, replete with romance, that has made Tom the favorite film actor he is.

Lambert Hillyer, who directed the photoplay, took his company to the plains of Texas that he might instill into the picture every element of beauty and interest that has become traditional to the Lone Star State.

LIONS TOLD OF 'PHONOGRAPH FRIGHT'

Artists, despite the fact that they are accustomed to appearing before audiences of thousands, virtually always are overcome with "phonograph fright" on their first occasion of singing or playing before the inanimate record reproducer.

This surprising assertion stood out today as one of the most striking and pungent made before the Lions club, meeting for luncheon at St. Ann's Inn yesterday, by Harry James, monologist of Los Angeles.

James, representative of a music house and who, himself, records for the composition discs, declared that it is not infrequently occurs that an artist or an orchestra will labor for twelve or fourteen hours before making a record regarded as complete enough to offer to the public. He explained the process of manufacturing the plates upon which the records are made and gave an insight into the method of reproducing the voice.

Ray Canterbury, reporting for the nominating committee, presented the following list of candidates for club posts, to be voted on Thursday, January 3:

President, H. B. Van Dien, Cal E. Prior; first vice president, Warren Hilliard, Walter Spicer; second vice president, J. A. George, Harold Wahlberg; third vice president, Clyde Whitney, J. C. Wallace; secretary, John Henderson, Ed Holmes; treasurer, Claude Killen, M. D. Clarke, tail twister, Andy Anderson, Dr. C. R. Lane; Honorary member, Bruce Munroe, Fred Wilde; directors (two to be elected), S. B. Kaufman, Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, Harry Drackett, Ray Canterbury.

Dancing numbers by Miss Neva Lynn of Los Angeles, who, it was announced, may locate in Santa Ana, were other features of the program.

The session being the last before Christmas, Harry Hanson, president, presented each member of the board of directors with a vest-pocket book, as an expression of his appreciation of the fine cooperation given him the past year by the board members. Burr Shafer was chairman of the program committee.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 21.—Despite requests of a large constituency, Alvin Owsley, past national commander of the American Legion, has refused to announce himself as a candidate for nomination for governor of Texas on the Democratic ticket, but will enter the practice of law in that state.

Friends of Mr. Owsley had asked him to stand for the gubernatorial election before leaving his position as head of the legion, but he declared that if he were elected he would only leave the governor's mansion, "broken in spirit body and financially."

He will enter a law firm in Dallas composed of Legion men, to be known as "Burgess, Owsley, Storey and Stewart" on completion of a lecture tour of the country.

In a tour of the nation during his incumbency as head of the legion, Mr. Owsley traveled 61,240 miles, made 349 addresses, and traveled 18,000 miles more visiting Cuba, Panama and Europe.

6 Overcome While Fighting Hotel Fire

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Six firemen were trapped and forty guests in a hotel narrowly escaped death when flames destroyed the building at 58-64 Clay street. The firemen were injured or overcome by smoke, the rescue work of the police saving many lives. The loss was $50,000. The origin of the blaze is undetermined.

Police Sergeant Charles Birdsell and Patrolman William Taylor were among the first on the scene and rushed through the smoke to arouse sleeping tenants. They carried out several men who had been overcome by smoke. After lying insensible from fumes for nearly a half hour, Fire Lieutenant Edward Bowler was rescued from the basement of the burning building.

The injured: Thomas Brady, Truck 5, severe lacerations of the right hand. Lieutenant Edward Bowler, 12 Engine, overcome by smoke. Charles Hagerty, Truck 5, overcome by smoke.

Battalion Chief M. J. Kearns, overcome by smoke. E. J. Land, Truck 5, overcome by smoke.

John Giffin, 12 Engine, overcome by smoke.

The flames destroyed a three-story building which housed the Seamen's Institute, the Henry von Tegen plumbing shop and the M. Nossen Bag and Burlap factory. The two upper stories comprised the Arcade hotel.

The blaze is believed to have been started in the basement of the burlap concern. In a short time, the entire building was in flames.

It took the fire department several hours to combat the fire and prevent it from spreading to the City Font garage, adjoining the burning building.

All the injured were treated at the Harbor Emergency hospital and later discharged.

GIVES MILLIONS FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 21.—From the purse of a hopeless cripple comes a magnificent gift—a gift measuring $1,000,000 in money but priceless in the measure of its aid to a stricken humanity.

William Henry Eustis, former mayor of Minneapolis, helped lame since boyhood, has saved and struggled through life in order that he might prevent other children suffering as he has suffered.

Affliction and despair have made no misanthrope of him. He is a warm-hearted old bachelor, happier now than he has been for more than three-score of his 78 years, in the realization that at last he has fulfilled his wish despite the terrible handicap fate imposed upon him.

Gets Noted Surgeon Eustis has set apart a million dollars from his savings for the erection and perpetuation of a hospital and convalescent home for crippled children to be administered by the University of Minnesota.

And he also makes it possible to have the hospital placed in charge of Dr. C. F. Pirquet, world famous pediatric specialist, who has resigned from the University of Minnesota to look after the Eustis enterprise.

Eustis hasn't always been a cripple. He, too, has known what it is to run and play. The huskiest of twelve children, his father once entertained hopes of his becoming a blacksmith.

"And blacksmith I would doubtless have become," says Eustis. "had I not been struck, as though by a bolt of lightning, when I was 15."

It was not lightning, though. It was necrosis. It confined him to a couch for the better part of the next six years, leaving him permanently crippled.

Later he was able to get around on crutches, and then he went to school, although his father figured he was wasting time. His father by that time wanted him to be a cobbler, since his affliction prevented him from following the blacksmith's trade.

But young Eustis taught school in the spring and all terms and went to the academy in winter. Then he went to Wesleyan College in Connecticut and took a liberal arts course, selling life insurance to keep going.

Leaves For West After getting a diploma and incidentally a Phi Beta Kappa key, he went to New York for a law course at Columbia.

"I practiced," he tells us, "for five years in Saratoga Springs. They told me Minneapolis was the fastest growing city in the Middle West, so I came here."

"First opportunity I bought a downtown corner. Then I got another one out of my savings from my law work. And I kept on buying until I had seven."

"Yes, I was pretty lucky in picking corners. That's the way I have made most of my money."

One of the conditions of Eustis' endowment is that all or color, regardless of race, creed or color, may have the advantages of the hospital and the home. Those who can pay will be allowed to, but the treatment for rich and poor will be the same.

His gift will be known as the Minnesota Hospital and Home for Crippled Children. He refused to have his own name connected with it, saying in his letter to the university:

"In a generation or two my name will be forgotten. The name I suggest should inspire faith among parents and children alike, and in the years to come when the little folks are restored to health and vigor, they will look back upon the institution as their alma mater."

SNAKE EXPERT IS PLAYED AS BIGAMIST

DENVER, Dec. 21.—For years W. A. Bevan has made a living carousing and playing poison snakes with impunity. Both he and the reptiles have been satisfied with the arrangement.

Now he has learned from Judge Ben Lindsey, famous arbiter of the Juvenile court, that he cannot pet and caress two women with impunity especially when one is his wife, mother of four children, even though both women profess themselves satisfied with the arrangement.

For Judge Lindsey told Bevan that he must drop his friendship with Mrs. Edith Wren, mother of a 13-year-old daughter, or go to jail. Judge Lindsey added:

"This tangled love drama is the most involved scandal yet before my court."

At the three corners of this, the strangest of triangles, stand three unique figures. One is the husband, without religion but with a moral code of his own by which he justifies his recent courtship of another woman, with the bafeul background of his deadly reptile farm behind the illicit affair.

Another is the patient, long-suffering wife, forced to submit to an odious situation, her unspoken protest smothered by fears for the material welfare of her children.

At the apex of the triangle there is the other woman, confident in her position and sneeringly contemptuous of the wife, ready to admit that for two years she has shared the affections of the male snake-charmer.

When Bevan was arraigned, the questioning by Judge Lindsey and Bevan's answers took this turn:

"Have you any religious beliefs?"

"No. I'm an expert on snakes and I need no religion."

"Have you any moral code?"

"Yes, and I can add that this arrangement exactly squares with my abstract moral principles. My theories of religion allow me to love one woman in an earthly way and the other in a spiritual way. I have always supported my wife and she has no complaint to make. I feel that the court has no business to interfere."

SAYS AUTOS KILL SHEEP OWOSSO, Mich., Dec. 19.—Shiawassee county sheep raisers have complained to officers that reckless motorists are killing many of their sheep by driving into flocks on the roads.

RABBIT HUNT PLANNED WEBB CITY, Kan., Dec. 19.—A two days' rabbit hunt is to be held by the Elks. The rabbits bagged will be placed in baskets with other food to be distributed to needy families for the Christmas dinner.

Bees Generate Heat In Winter Is Claim

EAST LANSING, Mich., Dec. 21.—Bees generate their own heat during the winter time, according to Prof. R. A. Kelly of the Michigan Agricultural college. If other conditions make it possible, the bees will have a warmth of 57 degrees, he declares.

Helping the bees conserve heat by packing the hives for winter, if outside, or placing them in a cellar is a part of the fall procedure of the good beekeeper. Mr. Kelly said. If the bees are to be packed outside, the beekeeper should make sure that the bees have approximately forty pounds of stores, Mr. Kelly said, adding that if this amount is not present, the bees must be fed sirup made by boiling equal parts of sugar and water, to which is added a small amount of weak acid, for ten to twenty minutes.

Colonies to be wintered in the cellar are moved inside about Thanksgiving time, or the first cold night after the last warm spell in November," Mr. Kelly said. "A bee cellar should be dark, dry and ventilated just enough to prevent moisture from collecting on the walls. The ideal temperature is 42 degrees. The less the bees are disturbed the better. Rats and mice can cause severe destruction and therefore must be prevented from gaining entrance."

"Although occasionally bees live through the winter with no protection, all beekeepers admit that bees are stronger in spring if assisted in their winter rest by packing or placing in the cellar."

"GIVE BANKERS" PAROLES

LINCOLN—Frank B. Knapp and Frank M. Ridings, prominent members of the "bankers' colony" in the state penitentiary, probably will be granted paroles at the next meeting of the State Pardon board. Their applications are not opposed by the State Bankers' association. Ridings, under sentence for embezzling funds of the Farmers' State bank at Halsey while he was its president, claims he was the victim of a coterie of Minnesota men and that he lost all his own money, $13,000. Knapp was president of the Fidelity Trust Company of Fremont. He converted to his own use $3355 which Stephen Carpenter left with him to be invested in Liberty bonds. His friends have repaid Carpenter and a Washington lumber firm is ready to give Knapp employment at $200 a month.

MILLION DOLLAR THEATER M'PHERSON, Dec. 19.—A movement has been started to submit at the spring election a quarter of a million bond issue for a municipal theater. A feature proposed is a double stage opening to the rear on an outdoor theater to be used in good weather.

ASK MORE BIDS ON ROAD WORK IN COUNTY

Welcome Christmas Gift For Harbor District Is Announced

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 21.—Bids have been asked and will be opened January 14 for paving the next lay of the state coast highway, with the proviso that work must start within thirty days from that date.

This important Christmas gift for the Harbor district, was the tidings conveyed to H. Cardozo Sloan, Balboa rector, by the firm he represents, the Sims-Guedel Co. of Los Angeles, who are interested in the Balboa Palisades.

According to the information received today the bids include paving from Huntington Beach to the Palisades, a distance of about 12 miles. The city of Huntington Beach recently passed proceedings providing for the paving of the highway through town to connect with this road.

The consummation of this project, which has been hanging fire for almost a year, is considered one of the most important events that could happen to the harbor district. Numerous hitches over rights of way, deeds to land, widths of roadbed, etc., resulted in one delay after another, but the men behind the project overcame every obstacle time and again, until their efforts now appear to be crowned with success.

The new highway will follow the ocean practically all the way to the Palisades and will not climb the bluffs until it reaches that point. It thus will skirt the shore all the way from Long Beach and afford one of the most beautiful scenic drives in the state.

Its importance to this district is in the fact that it will give this section another outlet to Los Angeles, cutting off about 12 miles between Newport and the Angel city. It will mean the coming of thousands of people who have never seen this delightful section of Orange county and will result in an unprecedented boom.

In some quarters it is regarded as almost of as much importance as the resurvey of the harbor recently ordered by the government.

Beach Baptists to Have Program Tonight

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 21.—Tonight, members of the First Baptist church of this city will hold their annual Christmas tree and celebration at the church. Children and teachers of the Sunday school department have been working on the program for some time.

"God Is Love," will be the topic taken by the Rev. Luther A. Arthur, pastor of the church, at the regular Sunday morning service which begins at 11 a. m. The morning service is preceded by the Bible school at 9:30 a. m.

"The Messiah" will be the theme for the evening sermon of the pastor. Further Christmas exercises will be held at the church Sunday evening.

In the afternoon Rev. Arthur will speak at the Immanuel hall at Santa Ana at 3 p. m. His subject will be "Great Promises Soon To Be Fulfilled, or Who Will Be Supreme Ruler of the League of Nations?"

After the sermon of the pastor, further Christmas exercises will be held at the church Sunday evening.

CHILD'S PLEA IS UNHEEDED: HOUSE BURNS

TALBERT, Dec. 21.—If Joe Parsons, local storekeeper, had heeded the plea of the young child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carrillo and "Put some water on our woodbox, it's burning" the Carrillo house might be standing today. As it was the house and much of the furnishings were burned yesterday morning.

Mr. Carrillo, the foreman for the Talbert district, laying the line for the outfall sewer, had gone to the postoffice to mail some packages. He left only his young son in the house. When the wood fire ignited the fuel in the box the youngster ran to the storekeeper and told him to come and put some water on the blaze, but Parsons thought the boy was not serious.

The second warning was heeded but when Parsons and others arrived the house was in flames. The Huntington Beach fire department was called and succeeded in preventing a house nearby from catching fire.

ALM HOUSE INMATE INHERITS FORTUNE

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Dec. 21.—James Hendershot, a sixty-five-year-old man, who has been in the almshouse for some time, has inherited a fortune of about $100,000.

"That's fine. I guess I'll have to leave here now, but I'll wait until I get the money," he said, when informed that as one of the cousins contesting the will of Mrs. Abigail A. Gelsinger, of Danville, he would benefit from the settlement of the case out of court.

Hendershot, a first cousin, had been cut off without a cent in the will, which left an estate valued at $2,000,000 to the Gelsinger Hospital and the Gelsinger Home for Friendless Women in Danville.

With three other cousins, William Hancock of Republic, Ohio; Clara F. Merrill, executrix of Celinda, Runyan, and Ida Sharpless, administratrix of Henry C. Patterson, of Marion, Ohio, he started a contest of the will.

The case had passed through various stages, in each of which the cousins had won a victory.

Mrs. Gelsinger built the Gelsinger Hospital at a cost of about $100,000, endowed it heavily, and at her death left her home here for the Home for Friendless Women.

Attorneys refused to divulge the amount involved in the settlement, but said it was "a nice sum."

MAN WHO KILLED JUDGE IS FREED

DAWSON, Ga., Dec. 21.—Declared not guilty of the murder of Judge J. H. Kelly, for which he was tried in Superior Court here, Enoch Thrash was released immediately after the verdict of the jury was announced. Thrash had staked his freedom upon a plea of self-defense, asserting that he fired only after Judge Kelly disregarded a warning not to draw a revolver.

The jury was out two hours. The trial of the case was brief. The courtroom was filled with the largest throng ever to attend a trial in this county, interest in the case running at fever heat. Judge Kelly, a resident of Dawson, was shot near his home by Thrash, who lives in the country near Dawson. Witnesses corroborated the statement of Thrash that he had warned Judge Kelly not to draw a weapon, and only fired after the latter did so.

SELL PROPERTY BANK STOCK IS PURCHASED 50 YEARS AGO

ORANGE, Dec. 21.—Land purchased fifty years ago was sold today by the original buyer—bringing more for each ten-foot frontage than the full ten-acre cost five decades ago.

Barren, cactus studded then, with sweeping mirador patches coloring the surrounding landscape, the land, ten acres, was bought for forty dollars an acre.

Today, it was pointed out, the same land, now developed, with broad streets, colorful dwellings and sweeping lawns, spreading their verdant grandeur before the eye, cannot be purchased below $3500 a lot, excluded paving assessments.

Through it all, Miss Bertha Johnson, the owner, aged well above eighty, has lived to envisage the wisdom of her investment, made fifty years ago when she, with her sister, Minnie, who died recently, came to Orange from England, her homeland.

The woman, still alert, active despite her years, has seen the cactus replaced by glistering rows of citrus trees, then, in the last few years, superceded by beautiful homes with shrubbery, lawns and broad sidewalks and streets.

The land, purchased from A. B. Chapman, original subdivider of Orange, is situated on Chapman avenue bounded by Cambridge street, Maple avenue and the imaginary extension of Maplewood street, now included for the most part in the Drumm addition.

Purchased in 1873, Los Angeles county records show, the ten acre plot was kept intact for many years until eight acres were sold to John Walker, Orange, who in turn transferred the property to William Gregg, Santa Ana, thence on down the line to G. N. Atwood, Dr. C. S. Parker, and finally to F. C. Drumm, now third superior judge for Orange county.

Dr. Parker, however, retained a home-site, selling the remainder to Drumm, who subdivided the land as the demand for homes increased with the growth of the city.

Now, the remaining acre retained by Miss Johnson through all these years as a home-site has been sold to A. L. Allcorn, St. Louis, Mo., who with his family has moved to Orange to make his future home.

The transaction, conditional upon Miss Johnson's contemplation of return to England, was handled through F. E. Ballman, local realtor, who disclosed details of the remarkable sale.

Meanwhile, Miss Johnson, still living in the modest little home erected by herself and sister, is awaiting the arrival of two nieces from England who will take her back to her homeland to spend the rest of her days.

"I don't desire any notoriety," Miss Johnson said, "there are many other old timers in Orange who would prove interesting."

But, fifty years in the same home on property purchased for $40 an acre now bringing more than $3500 a lot, reveals a remarkable chapter in the history of Orange county land values.

LAGUNA PLAYERS TO APPEAR TONIGHT

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 21.—The Players of the Dramatic section of the Laguna Beach Community club will entertain with a Christmas offering on Friday, December 21.

Two plays, a surprise and a silver collection, are the features scheduled for the evening's entertainment. These plays are to be a unique undertaking of the Dramatic section in that they are under the direction of novices who are for the first time attempting the novelty of directing.

The first play on the program is called "Neighbors," and is under the direction of Mrs. Alice Wakelee, who has taken active parts in the shows under the direction of the regular director, Madame Ann Dore, but who has never before guided the actions of others. The cast consists of Miss Jessie Washburn, Miss Mary Gray, Margot Sangster, Vivian Sayles, Mrs. Ella H. Goodrich, Harlan Durnad, Mrs. J. S. Thurston, and Catherine Strode.

Mrs. Gladys Simpson Shaffer has the direction of the next play on the program and plays also in "The Sweet Meat Game," as it is named. Her cast includes Arthur Collins, little Miss Taylor and Burr Shaffer.

After the surprise the program will end with the silver offering. The Laguna Community club is maintaining their interest in the activities of the other players' clubs in the county and are showing the shows of these actors. Last Wednesday a fair-sized gathering went to Santa Ana to see the recent offering of the Santa Ana Players and after each time they see these players they are inspired to do better work in their own field.

PURCHASED BY LAGUNA FOLK

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 21.—An official announcement was made this week by the officials of the Citizens' bank of Laguna Beach to the effect that the stock formerly owned by the president, Isaac Springer, has been transferred to reliable persons of the town. Mr. Springer, in resigning, made the statement that he appreciated to the fullest extent the co-operation received from the bank officials and stockholders and that the board now in charge was competent to the full extent of his knowledge.

A majority of the transferred stock was taken over by Dr. E. H. Woods, a prominent former resident of Riverside and a director of the Citizens' National bank of that town. Dr. Wood is now a large property owner in Laguna Beach and is well and favorably known here. In taking these shares and co-operating with the citizens of the town in the attempt to make the bank a strictly local institution, Dr. Wood feels that he is fulfilling a need that is earnestly felt by members of the community who have the welfare of the bank as an adjunct to the town as a prime interest.

Neal, a former banker of Pennsylvania before coming to California some fifteen years ago, has been named as the new cashier, appointed to act upon Roy W. Purpus' resignation which takes effect the first of the year. Mr. Neal has organized and operated banks throughout California where his achievements are noted in the Imperial valley. One of his recent connections was with the Citizens' National bank of Riverside. He is known not only as an expert and competent banker, but as a man who can act as a harmonizer in cases where a disagreement has been encountered.

Mr. Neal comes at a time when the local institution is in dire need of the services of such a cashier as the depositors in the bank here feel that a new board and new officers are necessary to the success and harmony essential to the true resourcefulness of a bank.

In the few months that the bank has been in operation here the proof of its desirability has been established and with the support of those who want it to succeed no fear for the future is countenanced. A new board of directors has been appointed and they will take office in January at the first meeting in the new year.

FORMS SECOND COUNTY AREA

California Edison Company Divides Up Santa Ana District

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 21.—Owing to the rapid development of this section of the county, the Southern California Edison company has found it necessary to divide up the so-called Santa Ana district and carve a new section from it. This change will become effective January 1.

The new district will take in the communities of Balboa, Newport Beach, Costa Mesa, Westminster, Smeatzer, Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Sunset Beach and Wintersburg. Headquarters will be at Huntington Beach and Dale Peters, a former Santa Ana man, will be the manager.

Mr. Deimling, who has so effectively operated the Santa Ana territory, will still be in charge of the Santa Ana district. His work and responsibilities have been so heavy that relief from a portion of the burden was imperative. Mr. Peters has been with the Edison company for years and is steeped in the service lore of that corporation.

"With the advent of the headquarters at Huntington Beach," said Mr. Deimling today, "the new district should secure a greatly improved service. When the coast highway is completed it will be comparatively easy for our trucks to scout down the shore to the harbor district. As it is now, it takes considerable time to send a trouble wagon to either Newport or Huntington."

"When Orange county's harbor starts to develop there is no question but that another district will be formed of the harbor. The Edison company always strives to keep step with the growth of its territory and recent published reports of our concern, showing the vast sums that are being spent for improvements, proves that this is the case."

BANDIT MAKES BOAST BANKS TOO EASY

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PASADENA, Dec. 21.—With one bullet wound in his head, one in his right arm and two in his back, Zethie Saunders, wanted for robberies here and at La Jolla, Calif., arrived here this morning in custody of Detective Bob O'Rourke.

Saunders was shot by the officer on a Southern Pacific train entering Tucson Tuesday night when he attempted to escape. The suspect pulled a gun from a concealed pocket in his trousers, but O'Rourke "got the drop" on him and fired first.

None of Saunders' injuries is serious, and he was to be taken to the county hospital today, where he will be treated, pending his recovery and trial.

Saunders confessed this morning to the charges against him, Chief of Police Kelly reported.

"The banks are too easy," he is reported to have said. "I might just as well have got $3600 as $600 in the La Jolla job."

Saunders was recently married in El Paso, indicating that he fully expected to make good his escape, he said he had made a date with his wife to meet her at one of the gulch beaches tomorrow. O'Rourke's quick work with his gun will, however, make it difficult for him to keep it.

TYPE OF RESIDENCE IS SHOWN ON FACE

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Some medical authorities claim that it is possible to tell at a glance whether a man lives in a house or a flat. They say that a particular type of residence leaves a distinctive mark on the physique and personality of the occupier.

Flat dwelling, according to their theories, develops the mental capacities, while life in a house leaves its mark on the physique.

The flat-dweller is saved various minor physical exertions. He becomes, in consequence, more reflective, philosophic, mentally alert and bodily sluggish.

The house man is his physical superior, is less likely to contract flat feet and varicose veins and superfluous adipose tissue. But he is more prone to mental dullness, to worrying about trifles, and to hasty judgments.

The flat dweller has less fresh air, and the air he breathes, unless his flat is high up, is more stagnant and infected than that which circulates through a house. He is more free from drafts than his neighbor in a house, and it is easier for him to keep a level temperature inside his domicile.

Taken all in all, the flat is a better winter and the house a better summer residence.

POINCARÉ PLANS TO FIGHT FOR BACKING

(By United Press Leased Wire)

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Premier Poincaré, following the technical defeat of the government by an adverse vote in the chamber Thursday, determined today to employ "steam roller" methods to force his domestic programs through parliament. He will not resign.

Count De Lasteyre, finance minister, in an interview regarding yesterday's defeat on the question of a subsidiary for government employees, declared the project will be proposed again with only slight modifications on Saturday. This time the government will resign if beaten.

Similarly Poincaré will demand a vote of confidence from the senate when his proposal regarding new electoral procedure to be adopted comes up.

CLAIM EBONY FOUND WITHIN AUSTRALIA

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—There are thousands of square miles of fertile, well timbered land practically unexplored in the "Never-Never" of the great Northwest of Australia, according to Capt. Charles Beltrando, explorer, pearl merchant and trader of Broome, Western Australia, who arrived here recently on the Cunarder Berengaria on his way home via San Francisco.

Captain Alexander said the British government had decided recently to spend eleven million pounds, to which Australia was contributing five millions, for building steamships and developing the cattle trade from Derby, one hundred miles north of Broome, which was the port for the new pasture country called the Kimberleys.

Captain Alexander said the possibilities of the Northwest of Australia were unlimited. On a recent exploring expedition he found an ebony forest covering more than 100,000 acres and another of cypress pine twice as large.

Sleuth Facing Quiz Over Stolen Papers

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—District Attorney Keyes was to call Van Dwinell, investigator for the district attorney's office, before him today, and ask him to explain how certain documents, including the transcript of testimony taken by Dwinell in the Michael Degen assault case came to fall into the hands of Lecompte Davis, counsel for the defense.

Married One Week, Spends $23 on Clothes

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 21.—Bygones are bygones for William Kasbohm, 19, and his wife, Genevieve, 16, who today are reconciled after Kasbohm dropped the annulment suit he began in a jealous rage.

They will change their home, taking up their abode with Kasbohm's mother instead of with the wife's mother.

After their marriage October 6 things went happily for a week until Kasbohm saw his wife walking with another man, who took to his heels when he saw the husband.

"Twenty-three dollars of the first weekly pay, $24 of their married life, Mrs. Kasbohm spent on clothes, the husband declared.

When he decided to seek an annulment on the ground both were under age, his mother was appointed guardian to bring the suit for him.

As soon as papers were served on Mrs. Kasbohm she visited Homer Smith, attorney for Kasbohm, and asked him to stop the suit, as she loved her husband and didn't want to be separated.

The next day Kasbohm himself admitted he might have been too hasty. They were brought together and started off for their new home.

TUG BOAT OWNER ACCUSED BY WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Describing a life of suffering with an alleged intoxicated husband, Mrs. May Lott, 373 Wilde avenue, who is suing her husband, George Lott, tugboat owner, for divorce, was granted $50 temporary alimony by Superior Judge Van Nostrand.

Through her attorneys, Virgil Garibaldi and John Harloe, Mrs. Lott sued for divorce last July, but the husband promised to amend his ways, she said, and they were reconciled. The peace-making was of but short duration, she declared, and she now asks divorce and custody of her 2-year-old daughter, Edith Florence.

Lott appeared in court to oppose his wife's suit, with lacerations across the face, which, it is alleged, he received the night before in a brawl.

Her husband beat her, Mrs. Lott asserted to Judge Van Nostrand, and related other cruelties which she says he heaped upon her.

They were married November 28, 1920, when he was a marine engineer.

ISLAND FLAPPERS DEMANDING TRAINS

PORT NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 21.—West Indian girls are wearing their skirts to the ground and are bobbing their hair, according to William Fenson, chief engineer of the freight steamship Darby, which is at her dock here after a trip to the islands.

"They got the idea that long skirts were all the rage on Broadway and that bobbed hair was just the thing to be in style," said Fenson, "so they're going so far that they almost have trains on their skirts and have come close to shaving their hair off altogether."

"I tell you it's a funny thing to see a lot of native girls who were in the habit for years of wearing their dresses higher than their knees and their hair falling over their shoulders and down their backs, looking the way they do now. But they think they're pretty classy, and they thought we were being nice when we laughed at 'em."

"The men are getting the style bug, too, I guess. We saw a couple of them wearing brown derbies, and some of the kids were sportin' Buster Brown collars. Oh, the West Indies ain't what they used to be by no means."

The men on the ship admitted there was a shortage of liquor in the West Indies and that prices were at rock-bottom.

NOTED BRIGAND IS WED TO MERE CHILD

LONDON, Dec. 21.—Miss Rosita Forbes, the famous woman traveler, reached London several days ago, after her journey to Morocco, which she made in order to hear the life story of Raisuli, the mountain brigand, from his own lips.

Raisuli, who is described as "the power behind the throne" in Morocco, in 1907 captured the late Kaid, Sir Harry Maclean, whom he held captive until he received a sum of $100,000 from the British government as a ransom. Mrs. Forbes was the first European woman to visit Raisuli.

Raisuli is an enormous man with a hennaed beard and a forceful manner," she said.

"He gave me as a parting gift two gold bracelets and I gave him a gold sword and some gay brocade for his wives. He also took from me a one-and-three-penny electric fan which he admired tremendously. 'It is so pleasant,' he said, 'to have the wind always with one.'

"He took me inside his house to see his family on the last day of my visit. He has two wives, the younger of whom is 14 years old; nine daughters, three sons, thirty slave women, fifteen boy slaves and twenty men slaves. His younger wife is exceedingly pretty, with rather an Italian type of beauty."

COURT GIVES LIFE ANNUITY TO GIRL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Evelyn Sonneborn, 15-year-old high school girl, living at 258 Frederick street, appeared in the courts of Superior Judges Graham and Dunne and was given an interest in an estate in the first court, and a guardian in the second.

Bequeathed a life annuity from the estate of the late Julius Zabel, well known politician of Alameda county, who was supervisor for years, Miss Sonneborn, her father, who is an electrical engineer for the Pacific Gas and Electric company, was selected by the girl as guardian.

Zabel died in 1917 and left an annuity to Evelyn to take effect upon his widow's death. The widow died on November 13.

Judge Dunne confirmed the child's choice of guardian and Judge Graham appointed the mother administrator.

TRAFFIC OFFICER IN ROLE AS GUARDIAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—Eliminating a danger that has been recognized for some time, Harold Johnson, who patrols the streets of San Leandro on a motorcycle to arrest speeders and reckless drivers, has been appointed by the board of trustees to act as a traffic officer and director each afternoon that he is on duty in front of the McKinley grammar school on East Fourteenth street. Johnson pilots the tots across the street, holds up traffic coming in either direction while the youngsters make a dash for safety and generally watches out for their welfare.

The spot has been recognized as particularly dangerous to the young folk coming out of school, heavy traffic pouring through continuously. Several minor accidents have happened there, more serious ones have been narrowly averted and a continual menace of tragedy was held as long as no protection was afforded.

"The kids are as fine a bunch of pedestrians as I've ever seen," relates Johnson. "They won't run across the street in a mad dash, but wait until I give the signal and then they cross in perfect order."

CONSENTS TO FIRST SLASH IN HIS PLAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—At last George Bernard Shaw has submitted to having one of his plays cut, but he has done the paring himself.

He has furnished to the Theater Guild a revised script for "Saint Joan," and it now can be played in time for suburbanites to catch their last trains. The cuts were made effective in rehearsals.

Never before in his forty years as a playwright has Shaw presented a producer with a revised manuscript.

The Guild cabled Shaw, when rehearsals first began, that many would miss the climax in the play in the rush for their trains.

"Change the railroad schedules," the dramatist cabled back.

"Railroads obdurate. We throw ourselves on your mercy," the Guild replied.

And this brought the answer: "Sending revised script."

$15,000 Suit Adds To Motorist's Woes

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 21.—A $15,000 suit for racial disgracement of Miss Lettie Campbell, 17, swelled the troubles of Raymond J. Pauly, indicted for manslaughter as the result of an automobile accident October 27.

Miss Campbell's face is marred by a scar, caused by a cut. She was riding with Pauly the night his car crashed into that of Joseph Oliver Jr. of Grand View Beach, resulting in Oliver's death later.

Suit also was served against Pauly by Miss Campbell's sister, Mary, who asks $5000 for injuries suffered in the accident. She and Walter Spaker were other occupants of Pauly's machine.

Through John J. McInerney, attorney for the sisters, Mary Campbell obtained a supreme court appointment as guardian ad litem of her sister.

Pauly and Spaker had taken the sisters for a ride the night of the accident. In South avenue, about 11:30 o'clock, Pauly's car crashed into the rear of Oliver's, which was standing at the curb without a tail-light, it is claimed.

Oliver was knocked from his seat and run over by Pauly's machine. He died in a hospital.

Besides the manslaughter indictment and the suits brought by the sisters, Pauly faces a suit brought by Oliver's father, who was exhorting by his son on his deathbed to take some action.

Pauly is a cripple.

Cripple Goes to Sleep Awakens All Fixed

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—When Dorothy Nickerson, 4-year-old pickaninny whose mammy takes in washing, went to sleep in the afternoon she had knock-knees and flat feet. When she awakened her legs were straight and her feet were arched.

It was a demonstration of modern surgery, given by Dr. Jacob Meyers, at the Home for Destitute Crippled Children.

Dorothy went to sleep under the easy magic of ether. Dr. Meyers straightened her legs with a scalpel and a bone chisel and manipulated her feet into normal shape with his hands.

"The Fool"

By Channing Pollock

other visitor. "Well, Mr. Goodkind, I'm in love with the Reverend Daniel Gilchrist, marries Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons. Gilchrist is sent to the coal mines by Goodkind senior and wires that a big strike is settled.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president and directors. Daniel gives the magnates 24 hours in which to sign an agreement which Gilchrist had made tentatively with the miners. Daniel establishes "Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed and maintains apartments with baths for poor people.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"What are you reading?" he asked. "Something about 'Better Babies.'"

"Are you going into the baby business," the man asked smiling. "No, I was a hansom driver. Hacks come in—taxi come in—and I went out."

"What'd you do then?" the visitor was inquisitive. "Took to drink," said Grubby blandly. "Yeh, then drink went out," observed Mack.

"What's your job?" It was Grubby's turn to question. "Well, I was in the movies," Mack replied. "That is, I was going to put up the money, his mother didn't die after all. Before that, I sold bricks—books, too. And life insurance. Never had any luck. Who wrote that, 'Luck is work'?"

"Mr. Gilchrist." "Well, it isn't. I've worked at 50 things and look at me, I figure the world owes me a living, and here I am waiting for a bite of grub and an overcoat. Is it true this guy'll give you an overcoat?"

"He will if he's got one. You just come and help yourself, and talk things over. Coffee and sandwiches every night—and supper and sermons on Wednesdays."

"Preaching," said Mack, rising. "I'll come back tomorrow."

Grubby was reassured. She was Mary Margaret entered. She was a mere wisp, gliding on crutches, is, pathetically pretty. She found cups and saucers on a shelf and bustled herself with them.

"Don't he try to reform you?" queried Mack of Grubby skeptically. He hadn't noticed the girl.

"Naw," said Grubby. "The way he talks you'd think you was as good as him. He says he's going to start me up in the taxi business."

"What's the catch? There must be some graft in it somewhere."

"If you ask me, I think the poor gent's got a few nuts in his nose-bag." Grubby described a circle over his head with his hand. "A little bit batty. That's what I say."

"And that's what you got no right to say, Grubby." Mary Margaret reproached the two with a look. "He's been good to you, ain't he?"

"That's why we think he's nutty," said Grubby. "What's he do it for?"

"Cause he loves you," said the girl, simply. "What for?" asked Grubby uncomprehendingly.

"God knows," mocked Mary Margaret. She hobbled to the table and began to set it. "It's after 7 now," she sighed, "and the meeting half an hour away and he ain't had a bite to eat since morning."

She paused. "He went to see a man who killed himself." Mack laughed. She looked at him curiously. "I mean—tried to. It was in the papers and he read it and says: 'I want to talk to that man.'"

She was still looking at Mack and now she recalled his words. "Graft," she said wistfully. "Why he didn't even have rent money yesterday and he was despatched. He ain't had money to get himself a pair of shoes, and nobody helps him, or comes near him, but you bums that roast him behind his back."

The door opened and George F. Goodkind looked in rather curiously. "I didn't roast him. I just said he was crazy," Grubby dismissed the subject, then looked at the intruder.

"Mr. Gilchrist?" Goodkind asked, stepping in. "He'll be here any minute," answered Mary Margaret. "Won't you come in?"

Goodkind walked to the table. Grubby buried herself in his magazine and Mack walked toward the platform. Goodkind sat down, but with an air that indicated he didn't want to.

"Take a magazine," the girl said. "I got to make the coffee." She turned to Mack. "You can come and carry it up in about 15 minutes," she said. She looked toward the shelf in time to see Mack flinging a loaf of sugar.

"Graft," she muttered. "You ought to know." And she hobbled off, singing.

"Think she'll tell him?" Mack queried of Grubby. "Naw," wheezed Grubby. "Any way, he don't care. He says we're all brothers in God." Mack made a grimace. "Yeh—" continued Grubby, "that's what he told Jimmy Curran—brothers in God—and Jimmy just up from pinchin' a guy's pants. Jimmy says he's clean loco. Guess what he's got in the back yard."

"What?" "Tennis. And handball games for kids. And, in the other houses, he's got flats, with bathtubs, and the rents ain't what they ask now for stallin' a horse. Why wouldn't I say he was crazy? Everybody says so but Mary Margaret."

The subject of the conversation entered on the heels of the scolding. Apparently he had not heard. He rubbed his hands from the coat. He wasn't warmly dressed—in fact, he looked a bit threadbare.

"Hello, Grubby," he greeted, hanging his coat on an old rack over an umbrella that almost fell as the framework swayed. "You're early—and you've brought a friend with you." He advanced and shook Mack's hand. "You're well, come." Now he recognized his

A PUZZLE A DAY

THE BOYS ROASTED AN OX FOR DINNER

A roast of dinner is certainly large enough for a good sized crowd; but that has nothing to do with the puzzle. The puzzle is to discover the English city where the feast was held. The name of the city is concealed in the sentence. Try and find it.

Yesterday's answer:

TO THE TOY STORE

The jumble of letters "OHEOY-SORE" becomes quite clear when the missing letter "N" is inserted four times. The sign then reads, "To the Toy Store."
